Angles of Elevation and Depression

Angles of Elevation and Depression These two angles describe the position of an object as seen from another point. The angle of elevation is the angle between the horizontal and the line of sight when the object is viewed from below. The angle of depression is the angle between the horizontal and the line of sight when the object is viewed from above.

Notice an object is in the foreground, the angle of depression is the angle between the horizontal and the line of sight when the object is viewed from above.

Example: The angle of elevation from the top of a 100-ft tower to the top of a 150-ft tower is 30° . How high is the second tower?
