

Analysis of a Squirrel Gene Pool

Suppose that, after observing that a squirrel population is quite diverse and, using markers 1979 and 1980, observed at three nested (inner, middle and outer) sites, the researcher then considers the possibility of gene flow and/or genetic drift. The observed genotypes are shown in the table below. The data are presented in a way that allows the researcher to determine if there is a significant difference in the frequency of alleles between the inner, middle and outer sites. The data are presented in a way that allows the researcher to determine if there is a significant difference in the frequency of alleles between the inner, middle and outer sites.

Suppose that the researcher has observed the following data:
