

Anatomical Terminology

In the study of anatomy and physiology, special words are used to describe the specific location or direction of one or organ, or the relative position or direction of one body part to another. The initial reference point used is the anatomical position. In the anatomical position, a human being is standing erect, with face forward, arms at the side, and palms forward (Figure 1-1).

Terms Referring to Location or Position and Direction

- Anterior or ventral means "front" or "in front of." For example, the knees are located on the anterior surface of the human body. A ventral hernia may protrude from the front or belly of the abdomen.

- Posterior or dorsal means "back" or "in back of." For example, human shoulder blades are found on the posterior surface of the body.

- Cephalic (seh-FAL-ick) and caudal (KAUD-ic) mean "skull" or "tail end" of the body; cephalic means "toward the head" and caudal means "toward the tail." For example, a blow to the skull may increase intracranial pressure and cause headaches. Caudal vertebrae are located in the lower spine.

- Superior or "above another" and inferior or "below another." For example, the heart is superior to the diaphragm, while the intestines are inferior to the diaphragm.

- Medial signifies "toward the midline or median plane of the body," while lateral means "away" or "toward the side of the body." For example, the nose is medial to the eyes and the ears are lateral to the nose.
- Proximal means "toward the point of attachment to the body" or "toward the trunk of the body," while distal means "away from the point of attachment or origin" or "farthest from the trunk of the body." For example, the wrist is proximal to the hand, and the hand is distal to the wrist. These terms are used primarily for the limbs or extremities.

Figure 1-1 Body directions: Cephalic refers to the skull or head end of the body; caudal refers to the feet or tail end. Anterior (or ventral) means "front" or "in front of." Posterior (or dorsal) means "back" or "in back of."
