into Soviet era animation brings to light magnificent art ruminations on the human condition and celebrations of innocence and joy As art reveals the spirit of the times animation art of Eastern Europe during the Cold War funded by the Soviet states allowed artists to create works illuminating to their experiences hopes and fears The political ideology of the time ironically supported these artists while simultaneously suppressing more direct critiques of Soviet life Politics shaped the world of these artists who then fashioned their realities into amazing works of animation Their art is integral to the circumstances in which they lived which is why this book combines the unlikely combination of world politics and animated cartoons The phenomenal animated films shared in this book offer a glimpse into the culture and hearts of Soviet citizens who grew up with characters as familiar and beloved to them as Mickey Mouse and Bugs Bunny are to Americans This book lays out the basic political dynamics of the Cold War and how those political tensions affected the animation industry in both the US and in the Eastern Bloc And for animation novices and enthusiasts alike Animation Behind the Iron Curtain also offers breakout sections to explain many of the techniques and aesthetic considerations that go into this fascinating art form This book is a must read for anyone interested in the Cold War era and really cool animated films

Traditional Monster Imagery in Manga, Anime and Japanese Cinema Zília Papp, 2010-10-29 Traditional Monster Imagery in Manga Anime and Japanese Cinema builds on the earlier volume Anime and its Roots in Early Japanese Monster Art that aimed to position contemporary Japanese animation within a wider art historical context by tracing the development of monster representations in Edo and Meiji period art works and post war visual media While the previous volume concentrated on modern media representations this work focuses on how Western art historical concepts and methodology might be adapted when considering non Western works introducing traditional monster art in more detail while also maintaining its links to post war animation sequential art and Japanese cinema The book aims at a general readership interested in Japanese art and media as well as graduate students who might be searching for a research model within the fields of Animation Studies Media Studies or Visual Communication Design

Design Essentials for the Motion Media Artist Angie Taylor, 2013-03-20 Master the fundamental concepts and techniques of motion media design so you can apply and occasionally break the rules to achieve your communication goals This authoritative guide presents all of the design essentials in an engaging and inspiring way Each principle is explained with text illustration and photography where necessary An accompanying website will contain any necessary digital files for download updates and links to other resources

The Crafty Animator Caroline Ruddell, Paul Ward, 2019-04-03 This collection is a study of the value of craft as it can be understood within the study and practice of animation The book reconsiders the position of craft which is often understood as inferior to art with a particular focus on questions of labour in animation production and gendered practices The notion of craft has been widely investigated in a number of areas including art design and textiles but despite the fact that a wide range of animators use craft based techniques the value of craft has not been interrogated in this context until now Seeking to address such a gap in the literature this collection considers the concept of craft through a range of varying case studies Chapters include studies on experimental animation computer animation trauma and memory children s animation and silhouette animation among others The Crafty Animator also goes some way to exploring the relationship craft has with the digital in the context of animation production Through these varied discussions this book problematizes simplistic notions about the value of certain methods and techniques working to create a dialogue between craft and animation
