postcolonial studies to reassess the significance of exotic animals in Victorian adventure literature. Depictions of violence against animals were integral to the ideology of adventure literature in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. However, the evolutionary hierarchies on which such texts relied were complicated by developing environmental sensitivities and reimaginings of human selfhood in relation to animal others. As these texts hankered after increasingly imperilled areas of wilderness, the border between human and animal appeared tense, ambivalent, and problematic. Earth Notes, 1991

Animals in Stone Alexandra Anna Enrica van der Geer, 2008. This magnificently illustrated study of a vast amount of South Asian animal stone sculptures provides an art history covering almost four and a half thousand years, analyzing the art, historical, archeological, and cultural context of animals in society. Film and the American Moral Vision of Nature Ronald B. Tobias, 2011-06-01. With his square, bulldoggish stature, signature rimless glasses, and inimitable smile, part grimace, part snarl, Theodore Roosevelt was an unforgettable figure imprinted on the American memory through photographs, the chiseled face of Mount Rushmore, and especially film. At once a hunter, explorer, naturalist, woodsman, and rancher, Roosevelt was the quintessential frontiersman, a man who believed that only nature could truly test and prove the worth of man. A documentary he made about his 1909 African safari embodied aggressive ideas of masculinity, power, racial superiority, and the connection between nature and manifest destiny. These ideas have since been reinforced by others: Jesse Buff, also Jones Paul Rainey Martin, and Osa Johnson, and Walt Disney. Using Roosevelt as a starting point, filmmaker and scholar Ronald Tobias traces the evolution of American attitudes toward nature, attitudes that remain to this day remarkably conflicted, complex, and instilled with dreams of empire. Special Class Programs for Intellectually Gifted Pupils Mildred Coen Robeck, 1968. Humans, Among Other Classical Animals Ashley Clements, 2021. From the European assimilation and destruction of the New World to our present environmental destruction of our shared world, Humans among Other Classical Animals demonstrates how the Classics have been implicated in the structures of thought that have ultimately led us to our present historical moment.
