American Politics Samuel P. Huntington,2004-02-04

This stunningly persuasive book examines the persistent radical gap between the promise of American ideals and the performance of American politics Samuel P Huntington shows how Americans throughout their history as a nation have been united by the democratic creed of liberty equality and hostility to authority At the same time he reveals how inevitably these ideals have been perennially frustrated through the institutions and hierarchies required to carry on the essential functions of governing a democratic society From this antagonism between the ideals of democracy and the realities of power have risen four great political upheavals in American history Every third generation Huntington argues Americans have tried to reconstruct their institutions to make them more truly reflect deeply rooted national ideals Moving from the clenched fists and mass demonstrations of the 1960s to the moral outrage of the Progressive and Jacksonian Eras back to the creative ideological fervor of the American Revolution he incisively analyzes the dissenters objectives All he pungently writes sought to remove the fundamental disharmony between the reality of government in America and the ideals on which the American nation was founded Huntington predicts that the tension between ideals and institutions is likely to increase in this country in the future And he reminds us that the fate of liberty and democracy abroad is intrinsically linked to the strength of our power in world affairs This brilliant and controversial analysis deserves to rank alongside the works of Tocqueville Bryce and Hofstadter and will become a classic commentary on the meaning of America

Political Protest and Cultural Revolution Barbara Epstein,1993-09-03 From her perspective as both participant and observer Barbara Epstein examines the nonviolent direct action movement which inspired by the civil rights movement flourished in the United States from the mid seventies to the mid eighties Disenchanted with the politics of both the mainstream and the organized left and deeply committed to forging communities based on shared values activists in this movement developed a fresh philosophy and style of politics that shaped the thinking of a new generation of activists Driven by a vision of an ecologically balanced nonviolent egalitarian society they engaged in political action through affinity groups made decisions by consensus and practiced mass civil disobedience The nonviolent direct action movement galvanized originally in opposition to nuclear power with the Clamshell Alliance in New England and then the Abalone Alliance in California leading the way Its influence soon spread to other activist movements for peace non intervention ecological preservation feminism and gay and lesbian rights Epstein joined the San Francisco Bay Area s Livermore Action Group to protest the arms race and found herself in jail along with a thousand other activists for blocking the road in front of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory She argues that to gain a real understanding of the direct action movement it is necessary to view it from the inside For with its aim to base society as a whole on principles of egalitarianism and
