Art Of Teaching Gilbert:

The Art of Teaching Gilbert Highet, 1950 The Art of Teaching , 1996 The Art of Teaching Gilbert Highet, 1955

The Art of Teaching Gilbert Hight, 1990 Art as an Agent for Social Change Hala Mreiwed, Mindy R. Carter, Claudia Mitchell, 2020-10-12 The chapters in Art as an Agent for Social Change presented as snapshots focus on exploring the power of drama dance visual arts media music poetry and film as educative artistic imaginative embodied and relational art forms that are agents of personal and societal change A range of methods and ontological views are used by the authors in this unique contribution to scholarship illustrating the comprehensive methodologies and theories that ground arts based research in Canada the US Norway India Hong Kong and South Africa Weaving together a series of chapters snapshots under the themes of community building collaboration and teaching and pedagogy this book offers examples of how Art as an Agent for Social Change is of particular relevance for many different and often overlapping groups including community artists K university instructors teachers students and arts based educational researchers interested in using the arts to explore social justice in educative ways This book provokes us to think critically and creatively about what really matters Aesthetics and Education Michael J. Parsons, H. Gene Blocker, 1993 What is the appropriate content of aesthetics for students of art at different age levels How can it best be taught How should it be combined with studio work and other art disciplines Michael J Parsons and H gene Blocker answer these and other questions in a volume designed to help art educators potential educators and curriculum developers integrate aesthetics into the study of art in the school curriculum The two introduce some of the philosophical problems and questions in art encouraging teachers and others to form a personal outlook on these issues

Art Education Albert William Levi, Ralph Alexander Smith, 1991 Recommending that art be taught as a humanity this volume provides a philosophical rationale for the idea of discipline based art education Levi and Smith discuss topics ranging over both the public and private aspects of art the disciplines of artistic creation art history art criticism and aesthetics and curriculum proposals featuring five phases of aesthetic learning While there is no consensus on how the various components of aesthetic learning should be presented in order to accomplish the goals of discipline based art education the authors point out that progress toward those goals will require that those who design art education programs bring an understanding of the four disciplines to their work The introductory volume of a five volume series this book will appeal to elementary and secondary art teachers those who prepare teachers at the college level and museum educators Learning in and Through Art Stephen M. Dobbs, 1998 This Handbook provides a practical straightforward guide to the theory and practice of discipline based art education This comprehensive approach to art education has transformed the way students create and understand art it also offers opportunities for relating art to other subjects as well as to the personal interests and abilities of young learners This completely revised edition explains how DBAE draws content from the disciplines of art making art criticism art history and aesthetics and shows how the practice of DBAE in schools over the past several years has influenced how art is taught today Creating Vibrant Art Lesson Plans Kristin Baxter, 2019-04-05 Writing lesson plans is often considered busywork but it can be a useful path for discovering what's important about artmaking and teaching This book shows teachers how to slow down breathe and linger over the process of unit and lesson plan writing to uncover how much this process can support them professionally creatively and personally The user friendly text offers guidance for selecting an art project for the unit and then zooms into the nitty gritty of specific lesson plans including how to identify materials for a project and how to construct classroom dialogue to help students develop ideas for their artwork The text also considers standards assessments and extensions to other subject areas Featuring accessible language clear definitions practical examples and self reflection prompts this unique resource will help pre and inservice teachers create lesson plans that are useful to their specific contexts and methods of teaching If you happen to be feeling weary frustrated or uninspired this book sparks imagination fuels hope and gives you theories to support what you know needs to be done From the Foreword by P Bruce Uhrmacher Christy McConnell Moroye and Bradley Conrad educational researchers Baxter invites us to slow down and consider the lesson plan as a creative catalyst to inspire our own artmaking as well as a space to examine why and what we teach Lisa Hochtritt Maryland Institute College of Art An inspiring and playful resource that is much more rewarding than typical lesson planning It will surely spark your imagination with every flip of the page Hailey Adlard art educator Parkland School District PA Discipline-Based Art Education Kay Alexander, Michael Day, 1991-01-01 This sampler was designed for art specialists and art museum educators with a basic understanding of teaching discipline based art education content The introduction offers a brief history of the Sampler and explains its intended purpose and use Then 8 unit models with differing methodologies for relating art objectives to the four disciplines aesthetics art criticism art history and art production are presented The sampler consists of two elementary units two units for middle school two units intended for required high school art one high school studio ceramic unit and a brief unit for art teachers and art museum educators that focuses on visits to art museums Learning activities resource material and learning strategies are given for the units along with a sequence of lessons organized on a theme
