Biodiversity and Insect Pests Geoff M. Gurr, Stephen D. Wratten, William E. Snyder, 2012-04-12 Biodiversity offers great potential for managing insect pests. It provides resistance genes and anti-insect compounds, a huge range of predatory and parasitic natural enemies of pests, and community ecology level effects operating at the local and landscape scales to check pest build-up. This book brings together world leaders in theoretical, methodological, and applied aspects to provide a comprehensive treatment of this fast-moving field. Chapter authors from Europe, Asia, Africa, Australasia, and the Americas ensure a truly international scope. Topics range from scientific principles, innovative research methods, ecological economics, and effective communication to farmers, as well as case studies of successful use of biodiversity-based pest management, some of which extend over millions of hectares or are enshrined as government policy. Written to be accessible to advanced undergraduates whilst also stimulating the seasoned researcher, this work will help unlock the power of biodiversity to deliver sustainable insect pest management. Dennis, Simone Fattorini, 2025-10-27 Habitat is the fundamental unit for understanding species ecology and preserving biodiversity; it has always had a variety of meanings, often not explicitly defined. This important book focuses on the two main uses of the term and their importance for nature conservation. The first traditional usage (TH) is that of terrestrial, aquatic, or aerial spatial units, which can be denoted by the species they host, with associated trophic relationships and interdependencies. The second, termed resource-based habitat (RBH), focuses on any one species' habitat. These RBHs are rarely limited to one space but are defined by the intersection of appropriate resources and suitable conditions. Since the ability of individuals to exploit resources is influenced by their own unique combination of traits, the RBH is spatially and temporally variable. The book explores how communities are structured, how species and individuals interact, niches, guilds, food webs, etc., and how biodiversity changes over space and time Typically a location distinguished by specific attributes TH a meadow a wood a field etc has few common species but many rare ones and the book explores this long challenging conundrum The TH usage has immense importance and implications for maintaining wildlife Ultimately the book investigates how best to conserve biodiversity Toxicology Research Projects Directory ,1978 Report of the Annual Meeting of the South African Association for the Advancement of Science ,1996
