Retelling the Caribbean Laura Ekberg, 2025-09-26. Retelling the Caribbean examines heterolingualism in Anglophone Caribbean novels and their Finnish translations. Heterolingualism, such as various types of code switching, is utilised by many Caribbean authors to represent the linguistic multiplicity of Caribbean cultures. Switching between different languages is a natural part of communication in Caribbean communities. Consequently, issues of language and cultural representation have become an integral part of the Caribbean literary tradition. This study is located at an intersection between the notion of intercultural translation employed in Postcolonial Studies and the notion of interlingual translation that is at the centre of Translation Studies, examining both the original novels and their Finnish translations as forms of translation. The book maps the strategies used by the Finnish translators of these heterolingual texts, comparing them to the strategies used by the authors in the representation of Caribbean language and culture in the original literary works. Through textual analysis of works spanning five decades of translated Anglophone Caribbean fiction in Finnish, as well as translator interviews, the book sheds light on some of the central issues related to cultural representation in the translation of heterolingual literary works.

Between the Bocas Jak Peake, 2017-07-19. Situated opposite the mouth of the Orinoco River, western Trinidad has long been considered an entrepôt to mainland South America. Trinidad's geographic position, seen as strategic by various imperial governments, led to many heterogeneous peoples from across the region and globe settling or being relocated there. The calm waters around the Gulf of Paria, on the western fringes of Trinidad, induced settlers to construct a harbour, Port of Spain, around which the modern capital has been formed. From its colonial roots into the postcolonial era, western Trinidad therefore has played an especial part in the shaping of the island's literature. Viewed from one perspective, western Trinidad might be deemed as narrating the heart of the modern state's national literature. Alternatively, the political threats posed around San Fernando in Trinidad's southwest in the 1930s and from within the capital in the 1970s present a different picture of western Trinidad, one in which the fractures of Trinidad and Tobago's projected nationalism are prevalent. While sugar remains a dominant narrative in Caribbean literary studies, this book offers a unique literary perspective on matters too often perceived as the sole preserve of sociological, anthropological, or geographical studies. The legacy of the oil industry and the development of the suburban commuter belt of East West Corridor therefore form considerable discursive nodes alongside other key Trinidadian sites such as Woodford Square, colonial houses, and the urban yards of Port of Spain. This study places works by well-known authors such as V. S. Naipaul and Samuel Selvon alongside writing by Michel Maxwell, Philip Marcella, Fanny Wilkins, E. L. Joseph, Earl Lovelace, Ismith Khan, Monique Roffey, Arthur Calder Marshall, and the largely neglected novelist Yseult Bridges, who is almost entirely forgotten today. Using fiction, calypso, history, memoir, legal accounts, poetry, essays, and journalism, this study opens with an analysis of Trinidad's nineteenth-century literature and offers twentieth-century and more contemporary readings of the island in successive chapters. Chapters are roughly arranged in chronological order around particular sites and topoi, while literature from a variety of authors of British, Caribbean, Irish, and Jewish descent is represented.

Trinidad Noir Earl Lovelace, Robert Antoni, 2017-05-02 To travel through the 19 works of poetry and prose in this remarkable anthology is to experience Trinidad and Tobago through a kaleidoscopic lens. Publishers Weekly starred review. Two of Trinidad's top writers masterfully curate this literary retrospective of the nation's best writing over the past century from authors who were largely part of the literary wave that swept in with Trinidadian Independence in 1962. Though Trinidad Noir: The Classics encompasses a variety of moods and themes, it winds up capturing the uniquely Trinidadian character. Influenced by the waning days of the colonial world, an era rife with crime, violence, enslavement, and indentureship, the selections highlight the often heroic individuals of the underclass. In this anthology, you'll find reprints of classic stories and poems by C. L. R. James, Derek Walcott, Samuel Selvon, Eric Roach, V. S. Naipaul, Harold Sonny Ladoo, Michael Anthony, Willi Chen, Earl Lovelace, Robert Antoni, Elizabeth Nunez, Ismith Khan, Lawrence Scott, Wayne Brown, Jennifer Rahim, Elizabeth Walcott, Hackshaw, Sharon Millar, Barbara Jenkins, and Shani Mootoo. Lovelace and Antoni offer a subversive take on island culture. Whether history repeats itself or progress is stalled by people's infinite capacity to get in their own ways, these 19 reprinted tales offer a bittersweet perspective on the cussedness of human nature. Kirkus Reviews. Holds strong appeal for fans of noir and literary writing. Library Journal.

L'ecrivain Caribéen, Guerrier de L'imaginaire Kathleen Gyssels, Bénédicte Ledent, 2008 This bilingual collection illustrates the concept of the Warrior of the Imaginary as defined by Patrick Chamoiseau in a multifaceted corpus of texts. Francophone contributions explore the role of the Caribbean writer in works by Chamoiseau, Édouard Glissant, Daniel Maximin, and Joseph Zobel. Essays in English focus not only on familiar writers like Dionne Brand, Edwidge Danticat, Wilson Harris, Jamaica Kincaid, Caryl Phillips, and Derek Walcott, but also on less widely studied voices like Robert Antoni, Albert Helman. Other contributions deal with such fighting areas as Afro-Brazilian music, film, and Mutabaruka's militant poetry. The whole testifies to a surprisingly coherent imaginary, one that goes beyond the balkanization of the Caribbean.
