

The background of the book cover is a traditional Chinese painting. It depicts a scene with several figures in a landscape. In the upper left, a figure in dark clothing is seen from behind, looking towards a distant figure. In the center, a man in a red robe and yellow sash stands with his arms crossed. To his right, a man in a yellow robe is bowing or gesturing towards a woman in a blue robe. Another woman in a yellow robe stands to the far right. In the foreground, there are ornate, patterned objects, possibly part of a ritual or a display. The overall style is characteristic of traditional Chinese art, with a focus on narrative and social interaction.

Asia Inside Out Changing Times 1:

Asia Inside Out Eric Tagliacozzo, Helen F. Siu, Peter C. Perdue, 2019-03-11 A pioneering study of historical developments that have shaped Asia concludes with this volume tracing the impact of ideas and cultures of people on the move across the continent whether willingly or not In the final volume of Asia Inside Out a stellar interdisciplinary team of scholars considers the migration of people and the ideas practices and things they brought with them to show the ways in which itinerant groups have transformed their culture and surroundings Going beyond time and place which animated the first two books this third one looks at human beings on the move Human movement from place to place across time reinforces older connections while forging new ones Erik Harms turns to Vietnam to show that the notion of a homeland as a marked geographic space can remain important even if that space is not fixed in people's lived experience Angela Leung traces how much of East Asia was brought into a single medical sphere by traveling practitioners Seema Alavi shows that the British preoccupation with the 1857 Indian Revolt allowed traders to turn the Omani capital into a thriving arms emporium James Pickett exposes the darker side of mobility in a netherworld of refugees political prisoners and hostages circulating from the southern Russian Empire to the Indian subcontinent Other authors trace the impact of movement on religious art ethnic foods and sports spectacles By stepping outside familiar categories and standard narratives this remarkable series challenges us to rethink our conception of Asia in complex and nuanced ways Handbook of East Asian New Religious Movements Lukas Pokorny, Franz Winter, 2018-04-24 This Handbook has won the ICAS Edited Volume Accolade 2019 Brill warmly congratulates editors Lukas Pokorny and Franz Winter and their authors with this award A vibrant cauldron of new religious developments East Asia China Taiwan Korea Japan and Vietnam presents a fascinating arena of related research for scholars across disciplines Edited by Lukas Pokorny and Franz Winter the Handbook of East Asian New Religious Movements provides the first comprehensive and reliable guide to explore the vast East Asian new religious panorama Penned by leading scholars in the field the assembled contributions render the Handbook an invaluable resource for those interested in the crucial new religious actors and trajectories of the region Entangled Waterscapes in Asia, 2025-02-20 This volume edited by Kwai Cheung Lo and Hung Chiung Li explores the notion of entangled waterscape to reflect beyond the traditional continental perspectives It understands Asia and beyond through the multifaceted interplay of history economics politics culture and ecological concerns The conceptualization of waterscape echoes contemporary geopolitical tensions economic interdependencies military strategies and historical cultural dynamics offering fresh viewpoints on rethinking cultural politics and engaging with Anthropocene concerns and ecological imperatives The volume reverberates with the discourses of the Global South complicating prevailing worldviews and ideological underpinnings and thereby prompts a re-evaluation of the concept of Asia Histories of Scale: Java, the Indies and Asia in the Imperial Age, 1820-1945. Vincent Houben, 2021-08-19 This major study explores the spatial history of the Dutch East Indies as an imperial formation between the early nineteenth century and the end of empire It consists of six in depth case studies on pertinent themes such as rural capitalism indirect colonial rule border politics coolie circulations un modern nationalism and the beginning of Indonesian independence These studies are set within a novel theory which connects local intra imperial transimperial and global history in the format of specific toponomes As such this book is a contribution both to Indonesian transcultural history and the field of New Area Studies Borderland Memories Martin T. Fromm,2019-03-07 In the 1980s a Chinese state sponsored oral history project led to the publication of local regional and national histories These histories are the basis of this innovative study of ideology formation and political mobilization post Cultural Revolution reconciliation and the recovery of borderland identities in early post Mao China The New World History Ross E. Dunn,Laura J. Mitchell,Kerry Ward,2016-08-23 The New World History is a comprehensive volume of essays selected to enrich world history teaching and scholarship in this rapidly expanding field The forty four articles in this book take stock of the history evolving literature and current trajectories of new world history These essays together with the editors introductions to thematic chapters encourage educators and students to reflect critically on the development of the field and to explore concepts approaches and insights valuable to their own work The selections are organized in ten chapters that survey the history of the movement the seminal ideas of founding thinkers and today s practitioners changing concepts of world historical space and time comparative methods environmental history the big history movement globalization debates over the meaning of Western power and ongoing questions about the intellectual premises and assumptions that have shaped the field The Future of Bangalore's Cosmopolitan Pasts Andrew C. Willford,2018-06-30 Bangalore is often heralded as India s future a city where global technologies converge with multinational capital to produce a cosmopolitan workforce and vibrant economic growth In this narrative the city s main challenge revolves around its success whether its physical infrastructure can support its burgeoning population Most observers assume that Bangalore s emergence as a global city represents its more complete integration into the world economy and by extension a more inclusive and cosmopolitan outlook among its growing middle class Andrew C Willford sheds light on a growing paradox even as Bangalore has come to signify progress and economic possibility both within India and to the outside world movements to make the city more monocultural and monolingualistic have gained prominence Bangalore is the capital of the state of Karnataka its borders linguistically redrawn by the postcolonial Indian state in 1956 In the decades that followed organizations and leaders emerged to promote linguistic nationalism aimed at protecting the fragile unity of Kannadiga culture and literature against the twin threats of globalization and internal migration Ironically they support parochial cultural policies that impose a cultural and linguistic unity upon an area that historically stood at the crossroads of empires trade routes language practices devotional literatures and pilgrimage routes Willford s analysis which focuses on the minority experience of Bangalore s sizeable Tamil speaking community shows how the same forces of globalization that create growth and prosperity also foster uncertainty and tension around religion and language that completely contradict the region's long history of cosmopolitanism Exploring this paradox in Bangalore's entangled and complex linguistic and cultural pasts serves as a useful case study for understanding the forces behind cultural and ethnic revivalism in the contemporary postcolonial world Buttressed by field research conducted over a twenty-two year period 1992-2015 Willford shows how the past is a living resource for the negotiation of identity in the present Against the gloom of increasingly communal conflicts he finds that Bangalore still retains a fabric of civility against the modern markings of cultural difference

Epidemics in Modern Asia Robert Shannan Peckham, 2016-04-28 The first history of epidemics in modern Asia Robert Peckham considers the varieties of responses that epidemics have elicited from India to China and the Russian Far East and examines the processes that have helped to produce and diffuse disease across the region

Hong Kong Takes Flight John D. Wong, 2024-11-01 Commercial aviation took shape in Hong Kong as the city developed into a powerful economy Rather than accepting air travel as an inevitability in the era of global mobility John Wong argues that Hong Kong's development into a regional and global airline hub was not preordained By underscoring the shifting process through which this hub emerged Hong Kong Takes Flight aims to describe globalization and global networks in the making Viewing the globalization of the city through the prism of its airline industry Wong examines how policymakers and businesses asserted themselves against international partners and competitors in a bid to accrue socioeconomic benefits negotiated their interests in Hong Kong's economic success and articulated their expressions of modernity

International Labour Migration in the Middle East and Asia Kwen Fee Lian, Naomi Hosoda, Masako Ishii, 2019-08-22 The discourse on migration outcomes in the West has largely been dominated by issues of integration but it is more relevant to view immigration in non-Western societies in relation to practices of exclusion and inclusion Exclusion refers to a situation in which individuals and groups are usually denied access to the goods services activities and resources associated with citizenship However this approach has been criticised in relation to gender issues which are very relevant to the situation of migrants The authors in this volume address this criticism Furthermore when framed within a North-South discourse it may be potentially ethnocentric to assume that the experience of exclusion is cross-culturally uniform Indeed work on migration issues has invariably been conducted within such a discourse The contributors go beyond this binary discourse of exclusion versus inclusion which has dominated migration research They examine the situation of migrants in the Middle East and Asia as one that encompasses both exclusion and inclusion addressing related concepts of empowerment ethnocracy the feminisation of migration and gendered geographies of power liberal constraint and multiculturalism individual agency migrant-friendly discourses spaces of emancipation and spaces of insecurity The book highlights current research in the Arab Gulf states and examines multiculturalism in Asia more broadly It will be of particular interest to students and researchers in international labour migration studies in the Middle East and Asia
