Asian Financial Crisis Documentary:

Film in Contemporary Southeast Asia David C. L. Lim, Hiroyuki Yamamoto, 2012-03-12 This book discusses contemporary film in all the main countries of Southeast Asia and the social practices and ideologies which films either represent or oppose. It shows how film acquires signification through cultural interpretation and how film also serves as a site of contestations between social and political agents seeking to promote challenge or erase certain meanings, messages or ideas from public circulation. A unique feature of the book is that it focuses as much on films as it does on the societies from which these films emerge. It considers the reasons for film makers taking the positions they take, the positions and counter positions taken, the response of different communities and the extent to which these interventions are connected to global flows of culture and capital. The wide range of subjects covered include documentaries as political interventions in Singapore, political film makers, collectives in the Philippines and films about prostitution in Cambodia and patriotism in Malaysia and the Chinese in Indonesia. The book analyses films from Burma, Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam, Thailand, Malaysia, Singapore, Indonesia and the Philippines across a broad range of productions such as mainstream and independent features across genres, for example comedy, patriotic, political, historical genres alongside documentary, classic and diasporic films. Chapter 7 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license.

American Masculinities in Contemporary Documentary Film Sara Martín, 2023-05-24 Most documentaries deal with men but what do they actually say about masculinity? In this groundbreaking volume, Sara Martín analyses more than forty 21st century documentaries to explore how they represent American men and masculinity. From Jennifer Siebel Newsom's The Mask You Live In to Raoul Peck's I Am Not Your Negro, this volume explores sixteen different faces of American masculinity: the good man, the activist, the politician, the whistleblower, the criminal, the sexual abuser, the wrongly accused, the dependent man, the soldier, the capitalist, the adventurer, the sportsman, the architect, the photographer, the musician and the writer. The collective portrait drawn by the documentaries discloses a firm critical stance against the contradictions inherent in patriarchy, which makes American men's promises of empowerment impossible to fulfill. The filmmakers' view of American masculinity emphasizes the vulnerability of disempowered men before the abuses of the patriarchal system run by hegemonic men and a loss of bearings about how to be a man after the impact of feminism, accompanied nonetheless by a celebration of resilient masculinity and of the good American man. Firmly positioning documentaries as an immensely flexible, relevant tool to understand 21st century American men and masculinity, their past, present and future, this book will interest students and scholars of film studies, documentary film, American cultural studies, gender and masculinity.

The Pop Documentary Since 1980 Richard Wallace, 2025-07-10 In The Pop Documentary Since 1980 Richard Wallace examines the representation of pop music musicians and music making in documentary film and television He draws together conceptual frameworks from within and outside of film and television studies including performance studies musicology celebrity studies and fan studies to provide a critical interrogation of the central issues in this genre A common criticism of the music documentary is that it lacks artistic integrity because of its close affiliation with its subject Wallace argues that music documentaries can be artful and conceptually complex and be part of a broader process of image curation under the control of the artist and their management This contradiction is key to the form's vitality and Wallace explores two competing lines of enquiry First the contribution that such documentaries make to the public perception of their subjects Second he argues that its official status does not preclude music documentaries from being artistic or engaging with the theoretical questions that underpin documentary media more broadly Other issues addressed include how documentaries about song writing attempt to represent intangible concepts like creativity and inspiration how the experiential and affective aspects of music are communicated through the visual image ethical considerations Each of these conceptual questions is examined through detailed analysis of a variety of music documentaries ranging from Stop Making Sense to Tokyo Idols via Beyoncé and The Beatles
