1. Match each of the following descriptions with a key term, and record the term in front of the description.

28. Instructions for the reader

2. Several incomplete statements are listed below. Correctly complete each statement by choosing the appropriate anatomical term from the list. Record the key terms on the corresponding numbered blanks below.

1. Journal of Management Studies, 1997, 34, 1, 1-14.

In the anatomical position, the anterior and medial are on the front body surface, the posterior and shoulder blades are on the back surface, and the sides of the head are the lateral parts of the body. The nose is anterior to the shoulders and lateral to the nose. The trachea is anterior to the vertical column (spine) and lateral to the shoulder but medial to the fingers. The stomach cavity is anterior to the diaphragmatic cavity and medial to the spinal cavity. In humans, the ventral surface can also be called the anterior surface. However, in quadruped animals, the ventral surface is the bottom surface.

If an ionization only has the large (the negative) and relative parts, the section is a $\frac{1}{2}$ section; but if the large is cut so that anterior and posterior portions result, the section is a $\frac{3}{4}$ section. You are told to cut a (dissection) animal along two planes so that the lungs are observable in both sections. The two sections that meet this requirement are the $\frac{1}{2}$ and $\frac{3}{4}$ sections.
