Children Learning to Read: Curriculum and assessment issues Pamela Owen, Peter David Pumfrey, 1995 This is the second of a two volume publication which provides an international perspective on how children learn to read Research studies and classroom experiences from around the world are reported highlighting implications for the design implementation and evaluation of classroom reading programmes Contributions are included from the UK USA Canada Australia Jamaica and Israel with evidence drawn from over 18 countries Despite the contexted differences there are many common concerns and controversies From these three areas are identified the first is developing an improved understanding of the nature of children s early reading development the second is the consideration of the ways in which children s reading can be encouraged This volume addresses the issues of curriculum and assessment in the context of accountability Using Effectiveness Data for School Improvement Anthony Kelly, Christopher Downey, 2010-12-13 Data metrics in schools are becoming increasingly complex but despite their best efforts teachers and academics generally find them something of a black box This book lifts the lid on that box exploring the provenance and problematization of existing techniques and developing new algorithms for measuring the more oblique aspects of in school performance Using contextual value added measures in England as a foundation they have become the template of choice for policy makers around the world and a basis for some excellent school effectiveness research the book explores the potential of performance and progress data to guide student and teacher self evaluation to set targets and allocate resources to evaluate initiatives and identify good practice to assess and reward staff responsibility and to inform policy in relation to emerging issues like school choice equality of opportunity and post compulsory progression Chapters are sectioned in three parts Past Present and Future and cover the historical journey from raw threshold to refined contextual measures of school effectiveness research and policy on pupil attainment and value added data the leading UK government and Fischer Family Trust models issues relating to differential effectiveness and the interpretation of data how best to blend data from different sources new non cognitive metrics for assessing social and emotional aspects of learning SEAL and staff responsibility managing data for school improvement and understanding professional attitudes to it Using Effectiveness Data for School Improvement brings together for the first time in one place the various metrics and models and their basis in research A full technical specification is included so that both data experts and data novices academics and practitioners can use the book to understand and maximize what is potentially a hugely transforming but under utilized resource and an increasingly important aspect to school and curriculum management Children Learning To Read: International Concerns Pamela Owen, 2013-01-11 This is the second of a two volume publication which provides an international perspective on how children learn to read Research studies and classroom experiences from around the world are reported highlighting implications for the design implementation and evaluation of classroom reading programmes Contributions are included from the UK USA

Canada Australia Jamaica and Israel with evidence drawn from over 18 countries Despite the contexted differences there are many common concerns and controversies From these three areas are identified the first is developing an improved understanding of the nature of children s early reading development the second is the consideration of the ways in which children s reading can be encouraged This volume addresses the issues of curriculum and assessment in the context of accountability

School Improvement Martin Thrupp,2006-02-01 Martin Thrupp argues that there has to be a much bigger educational and social justice agenda to school improvement than the managerial approaches typically taken by government policy He critiques those school improvement texts courses and consultancies which mostly frame their analyses within the terms of current policy and therefore act to apologise for it An alternative more critical approach to school improvement is developed in the book and the author also provides examples of practical strategies to be employed within this approach
