The Drag Augmentation Deorbiting System (ADEO) is a scalable drag sail developed by High Performance Space Structure Systems (HPS). There are various configurations of the ADEO sail: the ADEO-N series is tailored for small satellite missions of 20-250 kg, while the ADEO-M and ADEO-L target larger sizes, 100-700 kg and 500-1500 kg respectively. The ADEO-N series corresponds to sail sizes of $5 \pm 2 \text{ m}^2$, while ADEO-M covers areas within $15 \pm 5 \text{ m}^2$. There are other smaller versions as well for picosatellites (ADEO-P) and CubeSats (ADEO-C) in particular, and the option to configure the sail size according to customer needs. Various configurations of the ADEO-N product family have been tested already. The NADEO-1, launched in 2018, attached to the center of a Rocket Lab Electron rocket Kick Stage and the sail was deployed 60 minutes after launch (24). In late December 2022, the ADEO-2 sail was deployed with a $10 \times 10 \times 10 \text{ cm}$ package from the D-orbit ION-2 satellite carrier (Figure 13.6).

In 2000 the nation's next generation National Polar orbiting Operational Environmental Satellite System NPOESS program anticipated purchasing six satellites for 6.5 billion with a first launch in 2008. By November 2005 however it became apparent that NPOESS would overrun its cost estimates by at least 25 percent. In June 2006 the planned acquisition of six spacecraft was reduced to four; the launch of the first spacecraft was delayed until 2013 and several sensors were canceled or descoped in capability. Based on information gathered at a June 2007 workshop Options to Ensure the Climate Record from the NPOESS and GOES R Spacecraft this book prioritizes capabilities especially those related to climate research that were lost or placed at risk following the 2006 changes. This book presents and recommends a prioritized short term strategy for recovery of crucial climate capabilities lost in the NPOESS and GOES R program descopes. However mitigation of these recent losses is only the first step in establishing a viable long term climate strategy one that builds on the lessons learned from the well intentioned but poorly executed merger of the nation's weather and climate observation systems.
