2016 Prospectus In North West University:

Self-Tracking Btihaj Ajana, 2017-10-01 This book provides an empirical and philosophical investigation of self tracking practices In recent years there has been an explosion of apps and devices that enable the data capturing and monitoring of everyday activities behaviours and habits Encouraged by movements such as the Quantified Self a growing number of people are embracing this culture of quantification and tracking in the spirit of improving their health and wellbeing The aim of this book is to enhance understanding of this fast growing trend bringing together scholars who are working at the forefront of the critical study of self tracking practices Each chapter provides a different conceptual lens through which one can examine these practices while grounding the discussion in relevant empirical examples From phenomenology to discourse analysis from questions of identity privacy and agency to issues of surveillance and tracking at the workplace this edited collection takes on a wide and yet focused approach to the timely topic of self tracking It constitutes a useful companion for scholars students and everyday users interested in the Quantified Self phenomenon Bright Star in the Present Prospect Ian

Dunn, 2015-10-19 An illustrated history of the University of Chester charting its progress from the foundation as Chester Diocesan Training College in 1839 to the achievement of university status in 2005 and subsequent consolidation as a leading higher education institution in the region The Corporation as a Protagonist in Global History, c. 1550-1750

, 2018-12-10 William A Pettigrew and David Veevers put forward a new interpretation of the role Europe s overseas corporations played in early modern global history recasting them from vehicles of national expansion to significant forces of global integration Across the Mediterranean Atlantic Indian Ocean and Pacific corporations provided a truly global framework for facilitating the circulation movement and exchange between and amongst European and non European communities bringing them directly into dialogue often for the first time Usually understood as imperial or colonial commercial enterprises The Corporation as a Protagonist in Global History reveals the unique global sociology of overseas corporations to provide a new global history in which non Europeans emerged as key stakeholders in European overseas enterprises in the early modern world Contributors include Michael D Bennett Aske Laursen Brock Liam D Haydon Lisa Hellman Leonard Hodges Emily Mann Simon Mills Chris Nierstrasz Edgar Pereira Edmond Smith Haig Smith and Anna Winterbottom

The Power of Anticipatory Images in Student Achievement James M. Davy, 2020-10-03 This book features ten high academically achieving low income inner city students from Newark New Jersey who graduated from public high schools at or near the top of their class and continued to excel in college Using a qualitative research design the author interviewed the ten students and the person who most influenced their educational progress about what motivated them to achieve at such high levels Three mutually reinforcing anticipatory images emerged as a common element of their stories In their own voices the students describe the anticipatory images they framed how they developed them and how they used them to their advantage Davy advances a theoretical model of the Anticipatory Competent student who continually progresses in the directions of the images projected ahead Structuring Inequality Tracy L. Steffes, 2024-04-02 As in many American cities inequality in Chicago and its suburbs is mappable across its neighborhoods Anyone driving west along Chicago Avenue from downtown can tell where Austin turns into Oak Park without looking at a map These borders are not natural of course they are carefully maintained through policies like zoning and school districting some neighborhoods even annex themselves into distinct municipalities In other words they are all policy decisions In Structuring Inequality historian Tracy Steffes explores how metropolitan inequality was structured contested and naturalized through public policy in the Chicagoland area especially through public education and state government This metropolitan inequality deepened even amid civil rights mobilizations and efforts to challenge racial discrimination and promote equal opportunity She argues that educational and metropolitan inequality were mutually constitutive unequal schools and unequal places cocreated and reinforced one another School districts not only reflected the characteristics and inequalities between places but they also played an active role in shaping those communities over time Throughout the Chicago metropolitan area school districts defined community in part by reinforcing or undermining racial and economic segregation Their perceived quality shaped the identity and value of the community and schooling and its costs could drive development decisions including what kind of property to allow and residents to attract Decisions about school construction student assignment and school support were often important components of development strategy By denaturalizing policy to explore the choices that have brought us here and looking at efforts to challenge them this history helps us understand the inequality we live with today and inspire us to change it Research Anthology on Vocational Education and Preparing Future Workers Management
