Howell,2020 From the mid 90s to the present television drama with religious content has come to reflect the growing cultural divide between white middle America and concentrated urban elites As author Charlotte E Howell argues in this book by 2016 television narratives of white Christianity had become entirely disconnected from the religion they were meant to represent Programming labeled family friendly became a euphemism for white middlebrow America and developing audience niches became increasingly significant to serial dramatic television Utilizing original case studies and interviews Divine Programming investigates the development writing producing marketing and positioning of key series including 7th Heaven Friday Night Lights Rectify Supernatural Jane the Virgin Daredevil and Preacher As this book shows there has historically been a deep ambivalence among television production cultures regarding religion and Christianity more specifically It illustrates how middle American television audiences lost significance within the Hollywood television industry and how this in turn has informed and continues to inform television programming on a larger scale In recent years upscale audience niches have aligned with the perceived tastes of affluent educated multicultural and importantly secular elites As a result the televised representation of white Christianity had to be othered and shifted into the unreality of fantastic genres to appeal to niche audiences To examine this effect Howell looks at religious representation through four approaches establishment distancing displacement and use and looks at series across a variety of genres and outlets in order to provide varied analyses of each theme Indie TV James Lyons,Yannis Tzioumakis,2023-03-27 This edited collection is the first book to offer a wide ranging examination of the interface between American independent film and a converged television landscape that consists of terrestrial broadcasters cable networks and streaming providers in which independent film and television intersect in complex multifaceted and creative ways The book covers the long history of continuities and connections between the two sectors as seen in the activities of PBS HBO or Sundance It considers the movement of filmmakers between indie film and TV such as Steven Soderbergh Rian Johnson the Duplass brothers Joe Swanberg Lynn Shelton and Gregg Araki details the confluence of aesthetic and thematic elements seen in shows such as Girls Breaking Bad Master of None or Glow points to a shared interest in regional sensibilities evident in shows like One Mississippi or Fargo and makes the case for documentaries and web series as significant entities in this domain Collectively the book builds a compelling picture of indie TV as a significant feature of US screen entertainment in the 21st Century This interdisciplinary landmark volume will be a go to reference for students and scholars of Television Studies Film Studies and Media Studies
