The Routledge Companion to Gender and Science Fiction is the first large scale reference work of its kind critically assessing the relations of gender and genre in science fiction. SF especially but not exclusively as explored in speculative art by women and LGBTQ artists across the world. This global volume builds upon the traditions of interdisciplinary inquiry by connecting established topics in gender studies and science fiction studies with emergent ideas from researchers in different media. Taken together they challenge conventional generic boundaries, provide new ways of approaching familiar texts, recover lost artists and introduce new ones, connect the revival of old hate based politics with the increasing visibility of imagined futures for all and show how SF stories about new kinds of gender relations inspire new models of artistic, technoscientific and political practice. Their chapters are grouped into five conversations about the history of gender and genre, theoretical frameworks, subjectivities, medias and transmedialities and transtemporalities that are central to discussions of gender and SF in the current moment. A range of both emerging and established names in media literature and cultural studies engage with a huge diversity of topics including eco criticism, animal studies, cyborg and posthumanist theory, masculinity, critical race studies, Indigenous futurisms, Black girlhood and gaming. This is an essential resource for students and scholars studying gender, sexuality and/or science fiction. A Tale Told by a Machine Heather Duerre Humann, 2023-05-08. Intelligent machines have long existed in science fiction and they now appear in mainstream films such as Bladerunner, Ex Machina, I Am Mother and Her as well as in a recent proliferation of literary texts narrated from the machine's perspective. These new portrayals of artificial intelligence inevitably foreground dilemmas related to identity and selfhood, concepts being reassessed in the 21st century. Taking a close look at novels like Ancillary Justice, Aurora, All Systems Red, The Actuality, The Unseen World and Klara and the Sun, this work investigates key questions that arise from the use of AI narrators. It describes how these narratives challenge humanist principles by suggesting that selfhood is an illusion even as they make the case for extending these principles to machines by proposing that they are not so different from humans. The book examines what is at stake with nonhuman narration, the qualities of AI narratives and what it might mean to relate to a narrator when the voice adopted is that of an AI. class race crime and disaster Science Fiction and the Moral Imagination Russell Blackford, 2017-09-05 In this highly original book Russell Blackford discusses the intersection of science fiction and humanity's moral imagination. With the rise of science and technology in the 19th century and our continually improving understanding of the cosmos, writers and thinkers soon began to imagine futures greatly different from the present. Science fiction was born out of the realization that future technoscientific advances could dramatically change the world. Along with the developments described in modern science fiction—space societies, conscious machines, and upgraded human bodies to name a few—come a new set of ethical challenges and new forms of ethics. Blackford identifies these issues and their reflection in science fiction. His fascinating book will appeal to anyone with an interest in philosophy or science fiction or in how they interact. This is a seasoned, balanced analysis of a major issue in our thinking about the future seen through the lens of science fiction, a central art of our time. Everyone from humanists to technologists should study these ideas and examples. Blackford's book is wise and savvy and a delight to read as well. Greg Benford, author of Timescape

Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care Amelia DeFalco, 2023-08-27 Over the past decade, cultural theory has seen a number of turns: the materialist turn, the animal turn, the affective turn, that address the human as an affective, embodied, and ultimately vulnerable animal embedded in dense webs of more than human relations. In short, as a posthuman phenomenon. Care philosophy shares this focus on embodiment and vulnerability in its insistence on interdependence as the defining condition of human life, making it well positioned for a posthuman turn. To this end, Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care draws together contemporary narrative fictions that challenge humanist conceptions of care in their imaginative depiction of more than human affective bonds, arguing for an expansion of care philosophy's central figure: the embodied, embedded, and encumbered human. Fictional narratives of care between humans and robots, bioengineered creatures, clones, nonhuman animals, aliens, or inanimate things highlight the limits of humanist ethical models' capacity to register and accommodate posthuman relational intimacies while gesturing towards a model of care able to accommodate networked interdependencies that extend beyond the human realm. Texts by Margaret Atwood, Louise Erdrich, Louisa Hall, Eva Hornung, Kazuo Ishiguro, Bhanu Kapil, and Jesmyn Ward, along with films and television programmes like Robot and Frank, Under the Skin, and Real Humans depict a range of scenarios in which more than human care relations not only supersede human-human relationships but suggest new human-animal-machine ways of being that offer novel insights into the possible presents and futures of posthuman care. Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care reveals how these fictions do their own theorizing, imagining the politics, ethics, and aesthetics of specific contextualized scenarios of posthuman contact and companionship. Interweaving posthuman theory, care philosophy, and contemporary fiction, Curious Kin in Fictions of Posthuman Care offers generative visions of care that make room for the incredible range of affects, energies, behaviours, attachments, and dependencies that produce and sustain life in more than human worlds.
