

ANNOTATION GUIDELINES

HOLLEY- Reading 96/97

Annotation is the act of “talking” to the text as you read it. Though you may not be speaking out loud, you will be writing/taking notes about what you are reading as you are reading it*.

1. Underline or highlight any unfamiliar words. Later you can come back and write a synonym or brief definition of these words in the margin.
2. Underline main ideas the author presents. Also note supporting details with arrows or other symbol to show connection to main idea.
3. Make brief notes in your own words about the main idea of each paragraph; time consuming but useful, especially for writing summaries of essays or articles.
4. Use numbers to indicate steps in a process, lists, important details, etc.
5. If a something in the text causes you to ask a question, make a note of it in the margin. (make sure to also write down your question!)
6. If something in the text causes you to have a comment, make a note of it in the margin. (make sure to also write down your comment!)
7. Finally, create your own consistent method of symbols to use while annotating. See examples below.

For some, annotation is more effective if notes are taken after a selection is read through once. Example: While reading a novel, annotate for important events, characters, etc. after you have finished a chapter. Post-It notes are helpful for this!*

	Use arrows to point out important ideas, main points, or to connect ideas together	!	To show surprise or disagreement
	Use stars to highlight interesting points	LOL	To show humor or amusement
?	To indicate a question	WARNING: You must write down questions and comments as you go along. DO NOT simply rely on your symbols to help you remember.

ANNOTATION or “talking” to yourself as you read is a helpful strategy to keep yourself engaged while reading. It gives you a purpose even when reading something that is not very interesting to you. If you notice that you haven’t made notes while reading a text, this is a good indication that you haven’t been giving the reading your full attention and that you need to go back and re-read.
