Metaphors of ANGER across Languages: Universality and Variation Zoltan Kövecses,Réka Benczes,Veronika Szelid,2024-11-04 Anger is one of the basic emotions of human emotional experience informing and guiding many of our choices and actions Although it has received considerable scholarly attention in a number of disciplines including linguistics a basic question has still remained unresolved why do variations in the folk model of anger exist across languages if it is indeed a basic emotion rooted in largely universal bodily experience By drawing on a wide selection of comparable linguistic data from dozens of languages including a number of less researched languages this volume provides the most comprehensive account of what is universal and what is variable in the folk model of anger and why It also investigates the role that metonymies might play in the emergence of anger related metaphors and in what ways context influences or shapes anger metaphors and thereby the resulting folk model of anger No such volume exists in the cognitive linguistic literature on anger or on emotions for that matter The book is thus an essential contribution to the study of anger and will serve as basic reading for any researcher interested in how the conceptualization of anger is constructed via the interplay of bodily experience language and the larger cultural context Lonely Children and Adolescents Malka Margalit,2010-06-25 From texting and social networking sites to after school activities young people have many opportunities to interact with one another and yet loneliness and isolation trouble today's youth in increasing numbers Many children and teens report feeling lonely even in the midst of family and friends and childhood loneliness is a prime risk factor for adult alienation Lonely Children and Adolescents Self Perceptions Social Exclusion and Hope illuminates seldom explored experiences of social isolation among young people as well as the frustrations of the parents and teachers who wish to help This groundbreaking book conceptualizes loneliness not simply as the absence of social connections but as a continuum of developmental experience often growing out of the conflict between opposite needs to be like one's peers yet be one's unique self The author draws clear distinctions between loneliness and solitude and identifies genetic and environmental characteristics i.e. social psychological familial and educational that can be reinforced to help children become more resilient and less isolated In addition therapeutic approaches are described that challenge loneliness by encouraging empowerment resilience and hope from proven strategies to promising tech-based interventions Highlights include Developmental perspectives on loneliness Schools and the role of teachers from preschool to high school Peer relations e.g. cliques bullies exclusion and popularity Lonely children lonely parents models of coping Loneliness in the virtual world Prevention and intervention strategies at home at school in therapy Asking its readers to rethink many of their assumptions about social competence and isolation this volume is essential reading for researchers and professionals in clinical child school developmental and educational psychology allied education disciplines social work and social and personality psychology
