Introduction

Assume an investigative role and design a valid procedure using spectroscopy and graphical analysis to determine the concentration of FD&C food dyes in sports drinks. The investigation will develop and test your skills in preparing accurate serial dilutions, understanding spectroscopic measurements, and extrapolating from graphical data.

Concepts

- Spectroscopy
- Absorbance vs. transmittance
- Wavelength
- Consumer science
- Beer's law
- Solution concentration

Background

The color of a solution is an important tool used by scientists to gain information about the composition of the solution. Color is a physical property that is useful for both qualitative and quantitative analysis. A qualitative method yields information about the nature or type of compound in a sample, where as a quantitative method provides numerical data for the amount of a compound in a sample.

Spectroscopy is the study of the interaction of light and matter. A spectrophotometer is an instrument that uses electromagnetic radiation from a selected region of the electromagnetic spectrum, such as ultraviolet, visible or infrared light, to analyze the absorption or transmission of radiation by a sample. The basic function of a spectrophotometer is shown in Figure 1. The electromagnetic spectrum (see Figure 2) is the entire range of possible wavelengths or frequencies of electromagnetic radiation. In this investigation a visible spectrophotometer will be used—it scans the visible region of the electromagnetic spectrum, from 380 nm to 750 nm. Typical light sources for visible spectrophotometers include xenon and tungsten lamps.
