

Adobe® LiveCycle® ES2 Performance Tuning Guide

This document provides guidance to application architects and developers to help them monitor and measure the performance characteristics of a LiveCycle application. This includes the use of built-in tools and mechanisms as well as the use of third party tools to analyze performance.

Introduction

In this guide we describe LiveCycle parameters that can be used when adjusting LiveCycle to meet specific operational needs. This document is intended to be used by individuals with good technical knowledge of all aspects of a LiveCycle environment.

Each customer situation is unique with specific tuning requirements. LiveCycle's Configuration Manager configures LiveCycle with the default settings, which may be good for general purposes, but should be revisited periodically.

Many LiveCycle Services can be individually tuned. Tuning LiveCycle typically involves monitoring the JVM(s), operating systems, and database, then deciding what adjustments are necessary to improve system performance. Monitoring tools such as the LiveCycle Health Monitor and JConsole can provide information to help with required decisions.

LiveCycle's "Bedrock layer" concepts are introduced within this guide to help tuning of the C/C++ components outside of the JVM.

In order to tune third party software such as application servers, and in some cases, the JVM and database, you may be referred you to 3rd party documentation.

Performance factors

There are many factors to consider when tuning a LiveCycle ES2 application. Consider each of the following when approaching a tuning exercise:

- The application design, the volume of forms data, quantity of attachments, as well as signatures or annotations in the forms that are used in the process will affect the user-interactive experience and the database growth over time.
- The presence of LiveCycle ES2 solution components, such as LiveCycle PDF Generator, or other components that are incorporated into processes will affect the performance of the servers.
- Some LiveCycle Services make heavy use of the underlying database. The choice of database server, CPU, and disk I/O bandwidth available on the database server will greatly influence performance.
- Other database factors, such as where the database runs (on the same server as LiveCycle ES2 or on a remote server), if there is a parallel database load from other applications, and the available bandwidth between LiveCycle ES2 and the database server.
