Ricoeur's monumental and mortal time with the case studies of Virginia Woolf's The Waves and Terrence Malick's film The Tree of Life. Two chapters explore the effects of World War Two. AJ Burgin presents the disorienting technique of Martin Amis' Time's Arrow that shows time going backwards even in dialogue. Raymond Burt presents two novels of Michael Kohlmeier, a contemporary Austrian writer spanning the decades since the end of World War Two with his chapter drawing the link between time and morality. The final chapter on Calvino's If on a winter's night a traveler shows the multiplicity of time that the previous chapters have demonstrated so clearly. Terms such as affect, truth, haunting, memory, reality, identity, morality, and mortality all resonate within these chapters as characters within the novels and their specific culture areas grapple with time, recall the past, and attempt to live in the present. Many of the writers in this collection point towards possible new methods of dealing with time, reading methods engaging with the novel writers of the future in new and interesting relationships. Here, Time has not been wasted.

You are trapped in the dark under a great weight. You cannot move. His, her, their, our, your, and my consciousnesses take shape through speculation into your condition. Are you buried alive? Why? Are you alive? Are you accelerating through space in a you-shaped windowless vessel? What is your shape? Are you a flicker of light on the horizon of a black hole? Where is she? Has he lost all he loved? Speculation via thought becomes reality. Including historical, scientific, and found materials and images, ARTIFACT COLLECTIVE is a fictional and non-fictional exploration of quantum theory, cosmology, possible futures, intellectual property, interwoven, presents the commons, the individual, and collective mind, and the self.
