high student achievement Teaching Mathematics to All Children Benny F. Tucker, Ann H. Singleton, Terry L. Weaver, 2006

With the composition of today's classroom in mind this book approaches teaching and planning elementary mathematics by using methods that accommodate the diverse learning needs of any student having difficulties with basic math concepts. The authors use personal experience and research that supports a complete set of developmental concepts and skills to outline the effective development of mathematical concepts and skills. It stresses lesson planning that will result in learning understanding and retaining important concepts and skills. Teaching strategies are grounded in the NCTM standards and illustrated with real student work. In addition, the author provides a full range of concrete developmental activities that encourage future teachers to make math make sense for themselves as well as for their students. Believing that teachers who are comfortable with mathematics develop learners who are comfortable with mathematics, this author empowers preservice pre-K-4 teachers to teach math confidently by laying a solid foundation of math concepts and building on that foundation with engaging, meaningful, standards-based teaching methods. Integrated in this unique combined approach to teaching mathematics is a thorough discussion of math manipulatives as well as the use of technology, computer, and otherwise to assist today's mathematics teacher.
