

OIL PUMP

- Check the throttle grip play.
- Remove the oil pump cover.

- Loosen the lock nut and turn the oil pump adjuster so that the mark on the oil pump lever coincides with the mark on the pump housing, with the throttle grip left in the fully-closed position. Tighten the lock nut after adjustment.

- Check the throttle cable adjustment if this was not done beforehand.

NOTE: The oil pump must increase and decrease oil flow rate simultaneously with throttle valve movement. Minimum oil output should correspond to zero-throttle valve opening.

CARBURETOR

Although some internal carburetor parts can be adjusted by replacement, repositioning, etc., these adjustments are covered in the Maintenance section of this manual. The following procedure covers only the idle adjustment.

- Turn in the air screw fully — but not tightly — and then back it out 1½ turns.

- Start the engine and warm it up for about 5 minutes.
- Adjust engine idle with the throttle stop screw to the lowest stable speed obtainable, which will normally be 1,200 ~ 1,400 r.p.m. Turning the screw clockwise raises engine speed; turning the screw counterclockwise lowers speed.

- Turn the throttle grip a few times to make sure engine speed does not change, readjusting it if necessary.
- Turn the handbars back and forth while idling the engine. If idle speed varies, control cable play (throttle grip play) may be too small or the cable may be poorly routed.

STARTER

If the starter cable is left too loose, the starter plunger may not open far enough when the starter lever is used. If the cable does not have enough play, the starter plunger may not be fully closed when the starter lever is returned, and the engine will always be running on too rich a mixture.
