Women and Minorities in Science and Engineering, 1992 Journal for Research in Mathematics Education, 1986 Gender and Fair Assessment Warren W. Willingham, Nancy S. Cole, 2013-12-16 There have been many important changes in the participation of women and men in American society over the past quarter century Tests play a role in those changes by providing evidence of the diverse achievement and proficiency of women and men They aid the learning process and reflect inequalities in opportunity to learn and participate In addition they provide useful information in considering what alternatives in education and work make most sense for individuals and influence views about groups of students educational programs and a wide range of issues For all of these reasons it is important that tests assess fairly and reflect accurately the ways young people are and are not achieving as well as desired The test performance of women and men is a research topic of historical interest and has received much attention in recent years Because of this increased interest there is a great deal of new research and data available The purpose of the study presented in this volume was to review this new information with two objectives in mind to clarify patterns of gender difference and similarity in test performance and related achievements and to see what implications those findings might have for fair assessment and as a corollary examine the assessment process as a possible source of gender differences This study is interested in tests used in education to assess developed knowledge and skill In order to gain a broader view of gender similarity and difference the contributors looked at other types of measures and other characteristics of young women and men Their hope is to contribute to a firmer basis for insuring fairness in tests an objective which is particularly important as the field moves increasingly to new forms of assessment in which there is less experience

Government Reports Announcements, 1974 Cartesian Currents in the Calculus of Variations II Mariano Giaquinta, Giuseppe Modica, Jiri Soucek, 1998-08-19 This monograph in two volumes deals with non scalar variational problems arising in geometry as harmonic mappings between Riemannian manifolds and minimal graphs and in physics as stable equilibrium configurations in nonlinear elasticity or for liquid crystals The presentation is selfcontained and accessible to non specialists Topics are treated as far as possible in an elementary way illustrating results with simple examples in principle chapters and even sections are readable independently of the general context so that parts can be easily used for graduate courses Open questions are often mentioned and the final section of each chapter discusses references to the literature and sometimes supplementary results Finally a detailed Table of Contents and an extensive Index are of help to consult this monograph

Principles of Knowledge Representation and Reasoning Bernhard Nebel, Charles Rich, William R. Swartout, 1992 Stringently reviewed papers presented at the October 1992 meeting held in Cambridge Mass address such topics as nonmonotonic logic taxonomic logic specialized algorithms for temporal spatial and numerical reasoning and knowledge representation issues in planning diagnosis and natural language
