Lipid Signaling in T Cell Development and Function Karsten Sauer, Klaus Okkenhaug, 2015-11-12 Lipids are best known as energy storing molecules and core components of cellular membranes but can also act as mediators of cellular signaling. This is most prominently illustrated by the paramount importance of the phospholipase C PLC and phosphoinositide 3 kinase PI3K signaling pathways in many cells including T cells and cancer cells. Both of these enzymes use the lipid phosphatidylinositol 4,5-bisphosphate PIP₂ as their substrate. PLCs produce the lipid product diacylglycerol DAG and soluble inositol 1,4,5-trisphosphate IP₃. DAG acts as a membrane tether for protein kinase C and RasGRP proteins. IP₃ is released into the cytosol and controls calcium release from internal stores. The PI3K lipid product phosphatidylinositol 3,4,5-trisphosphate PIP₃ controls signaling by binding and recruiting effector proteins such as Akt and Itk to cellular membranes. Recent research has unveiled important signaling roles for many additional phosphoinositides and other lipids. The articles in this volume highlight how multiple different lipids govern T cell development and function through diverse mechanisms and effectors. In T cells, lipids can orchestrate signaling by organizing membrane topology in rafts or microdomains, direct protein function through covalent lipid modification or non-covalent lipid binding, act as intracellular or extracellular messenger molecules, or govern T cell function at the level of metabolic regulation. The cellular activity of certain lipid messengers is moreover controlled by soluble counterparts exemplified by symmetric PIP₃ inositol 1,3,4,5-tetrakisphosphate IP₄ signaling in developing T cells. Not surprisingly, lipid-producing and metabolizing enzymes have gained attention as potential therapeutic targets for immune disorders, leukemias, and lymphomas.

Racist America Joe R. Feagin, Kimberley Ducey, 2025-07-04 The fifth edition of Racist America is thoroughly revised and updated, focusing on systemic racism and antiracism issues, especially those arising since the fourth edition (2019). Expanding the discussion on racialized intersectionality as well as on the white racial frame, elite white male dominance system, and antiracist action, this book details how these racism realities continue to impact Black, Latino, Asian, Indigenous, and white Americans. The book explains how and why the Black Lives Matter movement and other antiracist protests have erupted, how and why Latino, Asian, and Indigenous Americans have responded to expanding racist discrimination, and how and why a diverse array of Americans has demanded major societal responses to dismantle entrenched white racism.

Nullifying God H. Robert Wilson Ph.D., 2018-01-01 Evolution and Creation are in a spiritual battle. Evolution scientists ignore, dismiss, and unequivocally reject Creation out of hand. It is not science or fact as evolution is, they say. However, Nullifying God shows that random Darwinian evolution does not have the direct evidence required to support the claim. Not only that, but it provides contrary evidence that evolution is biologically impossible. Because that is the case, evolution can only persist in the unchallengeable authority it needs to maintain its position by actively attempting to nullify its alternative, Creation, and therefore the Bible and God. Nullifying God was especially written to empower and benefit believers who are not familiar with science to show them that evolution cannot be fact and is not science It does so by 1 providing them with a core foundation of applied science principles to rationally question evolution s claims then 2 guiding them into solid clear knowledge of why evolution is biologically impossible and finally 3 presenting them with examples that document evolution s attempts to nullify God The bottom line is Biblical Creation is the only answer that explains life
