British Musical Biography James Duff Brown, Stephen Samuel Stratton, 1897 Black Popular Music in Britain Since 1945 Jon Stratton, Nabeel Zuberi, 2016-04-15 Black Popular Music in Britain Since 1945 provides the first broad scholarly discussion of this music since 1990 The book critically examines key moments in the history of black British popular music from 1940s jazz to 1970s soul and reggae 1990s Jungle and the sounds of Dubstep and Grime that have echoed through the 2000s While the book offers a history it also discusses the ways black musics in Britain have intersected with the politics of race and class multiculturalism gender and sexuality and debates about media and technology Contributors examine the impact of the local the ways that black music in Birmingham Bristol Liverpool Manchester and London evolved differently and how black popular music in Britain has always developed in complex interaction with the dominant British popular music tradition This tradition has its own histories located in folk music music hall and a constant engagement since the nineteenth century with American popular music itself a dynamic mixing of African American Latin American and other musics The ideas that run through various chapters form connecting narratives that challenge dominant understandings of black popular music in Britain and will be essential reading for those interested in Popular Music Studies Black British Studies and Cultural Studies English Cathedral Music and Liturgy in the Twentieth Century Martin Thomas, 2016-03-09 This book examines the stylistic development of English cathedral music during a period of liturgical upheaval looking at the attitudes of cathedral clergy liturgists composers leading church music figures and organisations to music and liturgy Arguments that were advanced for retaining an archaic style in cathedral music are considered including the linking of musical style with liturgical language the recommending of a subservient role for music in the liturgy and the development of a language of fittingness to describe church music The roles of the RSCM and other influential bodies are explored Martin Thomas draws on many sources the libraries and archives of English cathedrals contemporary press coverage and the records of church music bodies publishing practices secondary literature and the music itself Concluding that an arresting of development in English cathedral music has prevented appropriate influences from secular music being felt Thomas contrasts this with how cathedrals have often successfully and dynamically engaged with the world of the visual arts particularly in painting and sculpture Presenting implications for all denominations and for patronage of the arts by churches and the place of musical
