Perennial Biomass Crops for a Resource-Constrained World Susanne Barth, Donal Murphy-Bokern, Olena Kalinina, Gail Taylor, Michael Jones, 2016-11-18 This book presents a flavour of activities focussed on the need for sustainably produced biomass to support European strategic objectives for the developing bioeconomy The chapters cover five broad topic areas relating to the use of perennial biomass crops in Europe These are Bioenergy Resources from Perennial Crops in Europe European Regional Examples for the Use of Perennial Crops for Bioenergy Genotypic Selection of Perennial Biomass Crops for Crop Improvement

Ecophysiology of Perennial Biomass Crops and Examples of End Use of Perennial Biomass Crops Two major issues relating to the future use of biomass energy are the identification of the most suitable second generation biomass crops and the need to utilise land not under intensive agricultural production broadly referred to as marginal land The two main categories of plants that fit these needs are perennial rhizomatous grasses and trees that can be coppiced The overarching questions that are addressed in the book relate to the suitability of perennial crops for providing feedstocks for a European bioeconomy and the need to exploit environments for biomass crops which do not compete with food crops Bioenergy is the subject of a wide range of national and European policy measures New developments covered are for example the use of perennial grasses to produce protein for animal feed and concepts to use perennial biomass crops to mitigate carbon emissions through soil carbon sequestration Several chapters also show how prudent selection of suitable genotypes and breeding are essential to develop high yielding and sustainable second generation biomass crops which are adapted to a wide range of unfavourable conditions like chilling and freezing drought flooding and salinity The final chapters also emphasise the need to be kept an eye out for potential new end uses of perennial biomass crops that will contribute further to the developing bioeconomy

Through the Eye of a Needle John-Paul Flintoff, 2009 Through the Eye of a Needle is a brilliant account of his journey illuminating enchanting and often extremely funny arguing that the way we look at clothing influences the way we look at the environment the economy and life itself Few books written in our soulless times have such potential to transform people s minds so completely while also making them laugh His encounters are by turns humorous and enlightening He meets BBC TV s Jeremy Clarkson Hollywood superstars Richard Gere and Daryl Hannah spiritual teachers politicians call center and sweatshop workers artists Transition Town leader Rob Hopkins Prince Charles s own Savile Row tailor and many others

Sew Your Own John-Paul Flintoff, 2011-05-26 What happens when a man dazzled like most of us by hi tech happy to have his suits made by robots in New York sets out to find the meaning of life John Paul Flintoff s improbable and very funny book charts a journey through call centres and allotments rat catching and Savile Row tailors to some kind of enlightenment It is also a book about a man who learns how to crochet and how you might too John Paul Flintoff is a bit of a one off a man who embarks on a spiritual pilgrimage by outsourcing his life to Bangalore then hooks up with Mormons and Buddhists well Richard Gere on a quest for truth and fulfilment His journey is like a twenty first century Candide learning that life s satisfactions and some kind of response to the concerns of economic meltdown and climate change lie in learning how to make things for oneself and mending things that fall apart Along the way Flintoff paints pictures with Brit art oddball Billy Childish gets apprenticed in Savile Row grows his own food and spins fibre from nettles Daringly he also turns his book over to his wife Harriet who likes nothing better than a fancy spa and a shop at Liberty s The results are comic heartwarming and inspiring
