Protesting Affirmative Action Dennis Deslippe,2012-03-01 A lightning rod for liberal and conservative opposition alike affirmative action has proved one of the more divisive issues in the United States over the past five decades Dennis Deslippe here offers a thoughtful study of early opposition to the nation s race and gender sensitive hiring and promotion programs in higher education and the workplace This story begins more than fifteen years before the 1978 landmark U S Supreme Court case Regents of the University of California v Bakke Partisans attacked affirmative action almost immediately after it first appeared in the 1960s Liberals in the opposition movement played an especially significant role While not completely against the initiative liberal opponents strove for soft affirmative action recruitment financial aid remedial programs and against hard affirmative action numerical goals quotas In the process of balancing ideals of race and gender equality with competing notions of colorblindness and meritocracy they even borrowed the language of the civil rights era to make far reaching claims about equality justice and citizenship in their anti affirmative action rhetoric Deslippe traces this conflict through compelling case studies of real people and real jobs He asks what the introduction of affirmative action meant to the careers and livelihoods of Seattle steelworkers New York asbestos handlers St Louis firemen Detroit policemen City University of New York academics and admissions counselors at the University of Washington Law School Through their experiences Deslippe examines the diverse reactions to affirmative action concluding that workers had legitimate grievances against its hiring and promotion practices In studying this phenomenon Deslippe deepens our understanding of American democracy and neoconservatism in the late twentieth century and shows how the liberals often contradictory positions of the 1960s and 1970s reflect the conflicted views about affirmative action many Americans still hold today Catalog of Copyright Entries. Social Science Quotations Robert Merton,2018-04-27 Social Science Quotations has been prepared to meet an evident unmet need in the literature of the social sciences Writings on the lives and theories of individual social scientists abound but there has been no fully documented collection of memorable quotations from the social sciences as a whole The frequent use of quotations in scientific as well as literary writings that are mere summaries or paraphrases typically fail to capture the full force of formulations that have made quotations memorable This book of quotations invites the further reading or rereading of the original texts beyond the quotations themselves Sills and Merton draw extensively upon the writings that constitute the historical core of the social sciences and social thought those works with staying power often described as the classical texts Many quotations have been drawn from these classical texts because the quotations contain memorable ideas memorably expressed Both consequential and memorable these words have been quoted over the generations entering into the collective memory of social scientists everywhere and at times diffusing into popular thought and into the vernacular as well This book is useful to social scientists anthropologists economists historians political scientists psychiatrists psychologists sociologists and statisticians and for all who want to learn or verify memorable formulations and phrases concerning social thought and social theories It is particularly useful for graduate students taking courses that examine the history of their discipline Current List of Medical Literature ,1943 Includes section Recent book acquisitions varies Recent United States publications formerly published separately by the U S Army Medical Library Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1964 Lists citations with abstracts for aerospace related reports obtained from world wide sources and announces documents that have recently been entered into the NASA Scientific and Technical Information Database Searching for Scientific Womanpower Laura Micheletti Puaca,2014 Searching for Scientific Womanpower Technocratic Feminism and the Politics of National Security 1940 1980 From UI to EI Georges Campeau,2005 Established in 1940 in response to the Great Depression the original goal of Canada s system of unemployment insurance was to ensure the protection of income to the unemployed Joblessness was viewed as a social problem and the jobless as its unfortunate victims If governments could not create the right conditions for full employment they were obligated to compensate people who could not find work While unemployment insurance expanded over several decades to the benefit of the rights of the unemployed the mid 1970s saw the first stirrings of a counterattack as the federal government s Keynesian strategy came under siege Neo liberals denounced unemployment insurance and other aspects of the welfare state as inflationary and unproductive Employment was increasingly thought to be a personal responsibility and the handling of the unemployed was to reflect a free market approach This regressive movement culminated in the 1990s counter reforms heralding a major policy shift The number of unemployed with access to benefits was halved during that time From UI to EI examines the history of Canada s unemployment insurance system and the rights it grants to the unemployed The development of the system its legislation and related jurisprudence are viewed through a historical perspective that accounts for the social political and economic context Campeau critically examines the system with emphasis upon its more recent transformations This book will interest professors and students of law political science and social work and anyone concerned about the right of the unemployed to adequate protection
