14 Memorandum In Biology:

Methods for Collection and Analysis of Aquatic Biological and Microbiological Samples Phillip E. Greeson, 1989 The Soviet Biological Weapons Program Milton Leitenberg, Raymond A. Zilinskas, 2012-07-25 This is the first attempt to understand the broad scope of the USSR's offensive biological weapons research from its inception in the 1920s Gorbachev tried to end the program but the US and UK never obtained clear evidence he succeeded raising the question whether the means for waging biological warfare could be revived in Russia in the future Biology and Conservation of Ridley Sea Turtles Pamela T. Plotkin, 2007-03 Here Plotkin and her colleagues reveal the nature of these species and the steps needed to make sure they remain a permanent part of the marine environment Nuclear Science Abstracts, 1961 NSA is a comprehensive collection of international nuclear science and technology literature for the period 1948 through 1976 pre dating the prestigious INIS database which began in 1970 NSA existed as a printed product Volumes 1-33 initially created by DOE's predecessor the U S Atomic Energy Commission AEC NSA includes citations to scientific and technical reports from the AEC the U S Energy Research and Development Administration and its contractors plus other agencies and international organizations universities and industrial and research organizations References to books conference proceedings papers patents dissertations engineering drawings and journal articles from worldwide sources are also included Abstracts and full text are provided if available The Biological Weapons Taboo Michelle Bentley, 2023 The non use of biological weapons has been described as the great mystery of biological warfare The Biological Weapons Taboo solves that mystery by analysing the bioweapons taboo in the first comprehensive study of the concept Bentley explains precisely why bioweapons are perceived as repulsive and how this sentiment is consequently expressed in the form of political behaviours including the refusal to engage in biological aggression Drawing on extensive archival evidence this volume looks back on United States foreign policy decision making particularly in relation to the Geneva Protocol and the Biological Weapons Convention to demonstrate how and why the taboo has comprised a decisive factor in shaping both biowarfare strategy and political rhetoric and why the taboo needs to be recognised as a necessary consideration in the study of bioweapons In analysing a taboo the volume also takes the debate on international norms forward by questioning and challenging the wider analytic comprehension of taboo itself Rejecting current definitions of the concept as inadequate Bentley proposes a new and original model of understanding based on the normative characteristics of disgust stigmatization and fetishization The Biology of Sea Turtles, Volume I Peter L. Lutz, John A. Musick, 2017-12-06 Sea turtles have existed for millions of years making them fascinating subjects of study In the last 20 years the science of sea turtle biology has expanded at an exponential rate leading to major advances in many areas This book synthesizes the results of these advances and focuses on how these endangered marine reptiles operate in adapt to and are dependent upon particular features of their marine environment New technology in data gathering such as DNA analyses remote sensing and physiological monitoring techniques has led to a much greater understanding of the biology of the sea turtle at all stages of their life history

Select Documents on Japanese War Crimes and Japanese Biological Warfare, 1934-2006, The enactment of the Japanese Imperial Government Disclosure Act P L 106 657 and the issuance of Executive Order 13110 Jan 11 1999 aimed at making U S government records related to Japanese war crimes and war criminals in World War II more accessible Records surveys implementing these requirements disclosed that there were relatively few remaining security classified relevant documents waiting for disclosure On the other hand better identification of relevant documents and improved access to these records was a primary goal of the White House The Interagency Working Group IWG staff took up the admonition from the National Security Advisor that Agencies should bring to light hitherto unknown relevant unclassified or declassified records encountered in the course of the search for relevant classified records In selecting documents the IWG Staff focused on several subjects and topics that have longstanding interest and concerns for researchers Japanese research and experiments in biological warfare BW Japanese instigation of biological warfare attacks in World War II Japanese biological warfare experiments on living humans and animals Japanese atrocities against prisoners of war Japanese atrocities against civilian populations Allied decisions to hold Japanese responsible for war crimes Allied decisions to hold war crimes trials Allied decision to consider Emperor Hirohito as a person responsible for war crimes Allied decisions to investigate specific Japanese scientists and military personnel for BW crimes American POWs held at Mukden POW Camp Hoten and any evidence of BW experiments on them Some subjects of current interest such as comfort women were specifically searched for but with little success This collection will continue to expand as new documents are discovered Julian Perry Robinson: Pioneer in the Prohibition of Chemical and Biological Warfare Henrietta Wilson, Mary Kaldor, Josh Kaldor-Robinson, Peter Pringle, Alexander Ghionis, Richard Guthrie, 2025-11-07 Julian P Perry Robinson 1941 2020 made a unique contribution to protecting the world from the misuse of chemistry and biology A trained chemist and patent lawyer he applied his specialist knowledge to better understand the nature of chemical and biological warfare CBW and how best to prevent this He pioneered open source methods that enabled him to engage with and inform national and international policy making working across the natural and social sciences and with diverse sectors including governments international organizations and non governmental research advocacy and trade groups His influence can be seen in the achievement and implementation of the Biological Weapons Convention and Chemical Weapons Convention and in his influence on CBW scholarship This book details his life and work through chapters by people that knew him best his widow a close colleague his son and a dear friend alongside reprints of a selection of his publications chosen by his research partners family and friends and a bibliography of his CBW writings Techniques of Water-resources Investigations of the United States Geological Survey ,1987 Biological Weapons Jeanne Guillemin,2005 This resource offers readers a highly accessible and informed account of the circumstances under which scientists soldiers and statesmen were able to mobilize resources for extensive biological weapons programs and explains why such weapons were never deployed in a major conflict Mariana Islands Range Complex ,2010 Abstracts: US-International Biological Program Ecosystem Analysis Studies International Biological Programme,1977 The Human Radiation Experiments Advisory Committee on Human Radiation Experiments,1996-06-06 This book describes in fascinating detail the variety of experiments sponsored by the U S government in which human subjects were exposed to radiation often without their knowledge or consent Based on a review of hundreds of thousands of heretofore unavailable or classified documents this Report tells a gripping story of the intricate relationship between science and the state Under the thick veil of government secrecy researchers conducted experiments that ranged from the mundane to such egregious violations as administering radioactive tracers to mentally retarded teenagers injecting plutonium into hospital patients and intentionally releasing radiation into the environment This volume concludes with a discussion of the Committee s key findings and guidelines for changes in institutional review boards ethics rules and policies and balancing national security interests with individual rights Ethicists public health professionals and those interested in the history of medicine and Cold War history will be intrigued by the findings of this landmark report From Medical Chemistry to Biochemistry Robert E. Kohler,1982-05-31 This penetrating case study of institution building and entrepreneurship in science shows how a minor medical speciality evolved into a large and powerful academic discipline Drawing extensively on little used archival sources the author analyses in detail how biomedical science became a central part of medical training and practice The book shows how biochemistry was defined as a distinct discipline by the programmatic vision of individual biochemists and of patrons and competitors in related disciplines It shows how discipline builders used research programmes as strategies that they adapted to the opportunities offered by changing educational markets and national medical reform movements in the United States Britain and Germany The author argues that the priorities and styles of various departments and schools of biochemistry reflect systematic social relationships between that discipline and biology chemistry and medicine Science is shaped by its service roles in particular local contexts This is the central theme The author s view of the political economy of modern science will be of interest to historians and social scientists scientific and medical practitioners and anyone interested in the ecology of knowledge in scientific institutions and professions International Negotiations on the Biological-weapons and Toxin Convention Robert W.
