Scriba, 2012-05-03 Containing many previously unpublished letters this third volume of a six volume collection of the complete correspondence of John Wallis 1616 1703 documents an important period in the history of the Royal Society and the University of Oxford By providing access to these letters this painstakingly crafted edition will enable readers to gain a deeper and richer awareness of the intellectual culture on which the growth of scientific knowledge in early modern Europe was based Wallis was Savilian Professor of Geometry of Oxford from 1649 until his death and was a founding member of the Royal Society and a central figure in the scientific and intellectual history of England In the period covered Wallis is engaged in scientific debates on techniques for determining areas contained by curves quadratures and figures cubatures as well as on the theory of motion and the nature of the tides He also continues to attack the mathematical undertakings of Thomas Hobbes and to respond to attacks which the philosopher in turn levels against him We also find evidence for the consolidation of mathematics as an academic discipline in the University of Oxford just fifty years after the establishment of the first mathematical lecturerships Wallis is called upon more than once to deliver ceremonial lectures on mathematical topics to foreign dignitaries visiting the University At the same time the volume allows us to witness the beginnings of a remarkable development in mathematical publishing Many of Wallis s letters to Henry Oldenburg secretary of the Royal Society on a variety of topics in the mathematical and physical sciences are transformed into articles and published in Oldenburg s journal the Philosophical Transactions Part of the reason for this development also becomes clear in the letters the long and costly process of publishing mathematical books such as Wallis s three part Mechanica sive de motu This volume not only signals the modernization of mathematics in the second half of the seventeenth century but we also see two new figures emerge for the first time whose careers are in different ways closely associated with Wallis Isaac Newton and Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz Assessment of Mars Science and Mission Priorities National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Space Studies Board, Committee on Planetary and Lunar Exploration, 2003-08-08 Within the Office of Space Science of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA special importance is attached to exploration of the planet Mars because it is the most like Earth of the planets in the solar system and the place where the first detection of extraterrestrial life seems most likely to be made The failures in 1999 of two NASA missions Mars Climate Orbiter and Mars Polar Lander caused the space agency s program of Mars exploration to be systematically rethought both technologically and scientifically A new Mars Exploration Program plan summarized in Appendix A was announced in October 2000 The Committee on Planetary and Lunar Exploration COMPLEX a standing committee of the Space Studies Board of the National Research Council was asked to examine the scientific content of this new program. The goals of this report are the following: Review the state of knowledge of the planet Mars with special emphasis on findings of the most recent Mars missions and related research activities; Review the most important Mars research opportunities in the immediate future; Review scientific priorities for the exploration of Mars identified by COMPLEX and other scientific advisory groups and their motivation and consider the degree to which recent discoveries suggest a reordering of priorities; and Assess the congruence between NASA's evolving Mars Exploration Program plan and these recommended priorities and suggest any adjustments that might be warranted. Nuclear Science Abstracts, 1974
