GCSE Mathematics for OCR Foundation Homework Book Karen Morrison, Nick Asker, 2015-05-28 A new series of bespoke full coverage resources developed for the 2015 GCSE Mathematics qualifications Endorsed for the OCR J560 GCSE Mathematics Foundation tier specification for first teaching from 2015 our Homework Book is an ideal companion to the OCR Foundation tier Student Book and can be used as a standalone resource With exercises that correspond to each section of the Student Book it offers a wealth of additional questions for practice and consolidation Our Homework Books contain a breadth and depth of questions covering a variety of skills including problem solving and mathematical reasoning as well as extensive drill questions Answers to all questions are available free on the Cambridge University Press UK Schools website School Life, 1962 Register of Graduates and Former Cadets West Point Alumni Foundation, United States Military Academy, 1964 Journal of Research of the National Bureau of Standards, 1975 International Reflections on the Netherlands Didactics of Mathematics Marja van den Heuvel-Panhuizen, 2019-08-13 This open access book inspired by the ICME 13 Thematic Afternoon on European Didactic Traditions takes readers on a journey with mathematics education researchers developers and educators in eighteen countries who reflect on their experiences with Realistic Mathematics Education RME the domain specific instruction theory for mathematics education developed in the Netherlands since the late 1960s Authors from outside the Netherlands discuss what aspects of RME appeal to them their criticisms of RME and their past and current RME based projects It is clear that a particular approach to mathematics education cannot simply be transplanted to another country As such in eighteen chapters the authors describe how they have adapted RME to their individual circumstances and view on mathematics education and tell their personal stories about how RME has influenced their thinking on mathematics education Corporate DNA Arnold Kransdorff, 2017-05-15 For more than half a century the developed world has been chasing productivity It s financed our wealth but that part of output on which our continued prosperity depends productivity growth is petering out The traditional scapegoat has been the dearth of worker skills But the worker skills base has never been higher The other explanation is that it is managers who are not giving full value to their employers The way they re making decisions is conferring virtually no upside potential which means they re leaving us wide open for experience poor competitors to step into our experience rich shoes Exactly as Japan did in the 1960s and the so called BRICK countries Brazil Russia India China especially China and Korea are threatening now If creeping uncompetitiveness is not to overtake us from where are the next round of productivity gains to come from Identifying some gaping holes in the way managers are taught to manage this book outlines both the size of the problem and a solution Businesses and other organizations the author says have to substantially raise the quality of their decision making For this to happen they need to be much better experiential learners And for experiential learning to take place companies and other institutions have to better manage their corporate DNA the institution specific experiences otherwise known as

Organizational Memory OM which characterizes any organization's ability to perform is the single biggest influence on decision making excellence. It is a factor of production that has already been paid for at great expense yet is readily discarded in the backwash of the biggest change in workplace practice for more than a century: the actively encouraged flexible labour market. Corporate DNA explains why this key component of intellectual capital should be better managed, can be better managed, and particularly how it can be used to help organizations reduce the pandemic of repeated mistakes.

Resources in Education, 1983-10 Register of Graduates and Former Cadets, United States Military Academy West Point Alumni Foundation, Inc., United States Military Academy, 1960 Education under Siege Mortimore, Peter, 2013-09-23

At a time when education is considered crucial to a country's economic success, recent UK governments have insisted their reforms are the only way to make England's system world class. Yet pupils are tested rather than educated, teachers bullied rather than trusted, and parents cast as winners or losers in a gamble for school places. Education under siege considers the English education system as it is and as it might be. In a highly accessible style, Peter Mortimore, an author with wide experience of the education sector both in the UK and abroad, identifies the current system's strengths and weaknesses. He concludes that England has some of the best teachers in the world but one of the most muddled systems. Challenging the government's view that there is no alternative, he proposes radical changes to help all schools become good schools. They include a system of schools receiving a fair balance of pupils who learn easily and those who do not, ensuring a more even spread of effective teachers as well as banning league tables, outlawing selection, opening up faith schools, and integrating private schools into the state system. In the final chapter, he asks readers who share his concerns to demand that the politicians alter course. The book will appeal to parents, education students, and teachers as well as everyone interested in the future education of our children.
