Character Formation Eric Yang,2024-08-22 This volume examines the role and relevance of exemplars and the practice of imitation in character development and formation While the role of exemplars and imitation in spiritual and moral formation has been an integral part of many religious and wisdom traditions in recent times there has been limited theological and philosophical investigation into it and a dearth of interdisciplinary discussion The book brings together relevant research and insights from leading experts within philosophy psychology and theology with a slight emphasis on Christian approaches to exemplars and imitation especially given the reflection on these themes throughout the history of the Christian intellectual and mystical tradition Many of the contributions display an interdisciplinary approach into these issues hence this volume will be of interest to philosophers psychologists theologians and others who work in moral psychology and character formation A catalogue of the library of the rev. Transparency in Assessment - Exploring the Influence of

Explicit Assessment Criteria Anders Jönsson,Frans Prins,2019-04-03 In many schools and higher education institutions it has become common practice to share assessment criteria with students Sometimes it is required for accountability purposes at other times criteria are used as a means to communicate expectations to students However the idea that explicit assessment criteria should be shared with students has been contested On the one hand research has shown that explicit criteria may positively affect student performance reduce their anxiety as well as support students use of self regulated learning strategies On the other hand there are fears that explicit criteria may have a restraining influence on students learning as well as limiting their autonomy and creativity There are also indications of students becoming more performance oriented as opposed to learning oriented when being provided with explicit assessment criteria Taken together it is not fully understood under which circumstances it is productive for student learning to share explicit assessment criteria and under which circumstances it is not In particular empirical research on the proposed negative effects of sharing criteria with learners is limited and most fears voiced in the literature are based on individual experiences and anecdotal evidence In this book we therefore bring different perspectives on transparency in assessment together in order to further our understanding of how students are influenced by the use of explicit assessment criteria A deeper understanding of the influence of explicit assessment criteria on students understanding of criteria motivation and learning is equally imperative for future research and educational practice both of which need to go beyond individual opinions and convictions

Globalisation, Ideology and Politics of Education Reforms Joseph Zajda, 2015-10-09 This 14th volume in the 24 volume book series sets out to explore the interrelationship between ideology the state and education reforms placing it in a global context It examines some of the major education reforms and policy issues in a global culture particularly in the light of recent shifts in accountability quality and standards driven education and policy research By doing so it provides a comprehensive picture of the intersecting and diverse discourses of globalisation and policy driven reforms in education The book draws upon recent studies in the areas of globalisation equality and the role of the state It explores conceptual frameworks and methodological approaches applicable in the research covering the state globalisation and education reforms It critiques the neo liberal ideological imperatives of current education and policy reforms and illustrates the way that shifts in the relationship between the state and education policy affect current trends in education reforms and schooling globally Individual chapters critically assess the dominant discourses and debates on education and policy reforms Using diverse comparative education paradigms from critical theory to historical comparative research the chapters focus on globalisation ideology and democracy and examine both the reasons and outcomes of education reforms and policy change They provide an informed critique of models of accountability quality and standards driven education reforms that are informed by Western dominant ideologies and social values The book also draws upon recent studies in the areas of equity cultural capital and dominant ideologies in education Preparing STEM Teachers Joanne E. Goodell, Selma Koç, 2020-09-01 STEM project based instruction is a pedagogical approach that is gaining popularity across the USA. However, there are very few teacher education programs that focus specifically on preparing graduates to teach in project based environments. This book is focused on the UTeach program, a STEM teacher education model that is being implemented across the USA in 46 universities. Originally focused only on mathematics and science, many UTeach programs are now offering engineering and computer science licensure programs as well. This book provides a forum to disseminate how different institutions have implemented the UTeach model in their local context. Topics discussed will include sustainability, features of the model, and how program assessment, innovative instructional programming, classroom research, and effectiveness research have contributed to its success. The objectives of the book are: To help educators gain insight into a teacher education organizational model focused on STEM and how and why it was developed; To present the theoretical underpinnings of a STEM education model, i.e., deep learning, conceptual understanding; To present innovative instructional programming in teacher education, i.e., project-based instruction, functions and modeling research methods; To present research and practice in classroom and field implementation and future research recommendations; To disseminate program assessments and improvement efforts.
