Philosophy of African American Studies Stephen Ferguson,2015-09-16 In this ground breaking book Stephen C Ferguson addresses a seminal question that is too often ignored What should be the philosophical basis for African American studies The volume explores philosophical issues and problems in their relationship to Black studies Ferguson shows that philosophy is not a sterile intellectual pursuit but a critical tool to gathering knowledge about the Black experience Cultural idealism in various forms has become enormously influential as a framework for Black studies Ferguson takes on the task of demonstrating how a Marxist philosophical perspective offers a productive and fruitful way of overcoming the limitations of idealism Focusing on the hugely popular Afrocentric school of thought this book s engaging discussion shows that the foundational arguments of cultural idealism are based on a series of analytical and historical misapprehensions In turn Ferguson argues for the centrality of the Black working class both men and women to Black Studies A Connected Curriculum for Higher Education Dilly Fung,2017-06-07 Is it possible to bring university research and student education into a more connected more symbiotic relationship If so can we develop programmes of study that enable faculty students and real world communities to connect in new ways In this accessible book Dilly Fung argues that it is not only possible but also potentially transformational to develop new forms of research based education Presenting the Connected Curriculum framework already adopted by UCL she opens windows onto new initiatives related to for example research based education internationalisation the global classroom interdisciplinarity and public engagement A Connected Curriculum for Higher Education is however not just about developing engaging programmes of study Drawing on the field of philosophical hermeneutics Fung argues how the Connected Curriculum framework can help to create spaces for critical dialogue about educational values both within and across existing research groups teaching departments and learning communities Drawing on vignettes of practice from around the world she argues that developing the synergies between research and education can empower faculty members and students from all backgrounds to contribute to the global common good

Quantifying Approaches to Discourse for Social Scientists Ronny Scholz, 2018-11-27 This book provides an overview of a range of quantitative methods presenting a thorough analytical toolbox which will be of practical use to researchers across the social sciences as they face the challenges raised by new technology driven language practices The book is driven by a reflexive mind set which views quantifying methods as complementary rather than in opposition to qualitative methods and the chapters analyse a multitude of different intra and extra textual context levels essential for the understanding of how meaning is re constructed in society Uniting contributions from a range of national and disciplinary traditions the chapters in this volume bring together state of the art research from British Canadian French German and Swiss authors representing the fields of Political Science Sociology Linguistics Computer Science and Statistics It will be of particular interest to discourse analysts but also to other scholars working in the digital humanities and with big data of any kind

Teaching Undergraduate Science Linda C. Hodges, 2023-07-03 This book is written for all science or engineering faculty who have ever found themselves baffled and frustrated by their undergraduate students lack of engagement and learning The author an experienced scientist faculty member and educational consultant addresses these issues with the knowledge of faculty interests constraints and day to day concerns in mind Drawing from the research on learning she offers faculty new ways to think about the struggles their science students face She then provides a range of evidence based teaching strategies that can make the time faculty spend in the classroom more productive and satisfying Linda Hodges reviews the various learning problems endemic to teaching science explains why they are so common and persistent and presents a digest of key ideas and strategies to address them based on the research she has undertaken into the literature on the cognitive sciences and education Recognizing that faculty have different views about teaching different comfort levels with alternative teaching approaches and are often pressed for time Linda Hodges takes these constraints into account by first offering a framework for thinking purposefully about course design and teaching choices and then providing a range of strategies to address very specific teaching barriers whether it be students motivation engagement in class ability to problem solve their reading comprehension or laboratory research or writing skills Except for the first and last chapters the other chapters in this book stand on their own i e can be read in any order and address a specific challenge students have in learning and doing science Each chapter summarizes the research explaining why students struggle and concludes by offering several teaching options categorized by how easy or difficult they are to implement Some for example can work in a large lecture class without a great expenditure of time others may require more preparation and a more adventurous approach to teaching Each strategy is accompanied by a table categorizing its likely impact how much time it will take in class or out and how difficult it will be to implement Like scientific research teaching works best when faculty start with a goal in mind plan an approach building on the literature use well tested methodologies and analyze results for future trials Linda Hodges message is that with such intentional thought and a bit of effort faculty can succeed in helping many more students gain exciting new skills and abilities whether those students are potential scientists or physicians or entrepreneurs Her book serves as a mini compendium of current research as well as a protocol manual a readily accessible guide to the literature the best practices known to date and a framework for thinking about teaching

Expanding Ecological Approaches to Language, Culture, and Identity
Jaran Shin, 2023-12-22 This book explores the process of identity re construction among mixed heritage children within the context of globalization through the lens of its intersection with Korean society The volume illustrates how these multicultural children mediate hybrid social spaces and examines their personal approaches toward translating resisting and transforming the entanglements engendered in those spaces By tracing the trajectories of their identity re formations over several years the book details the paths these youths have taken to navigate diverse contact zones and cope with institutional regulatory mechanisms It highlights that in the face of prevailing social stigma they actively involve themselves in political action in their day to day lives they redefine what it means to be Korean and but multicultural challenge simplistic membership boundaries and develop unique strategies to resist and subsist These efforts to question the essentialist logic of authenticity demonstrate that these youths situated at the convergence of globalization migration inequality and political power represent a challenge to both national and global orders Arguing that ecological perspectives need to direct greater attention toward the political as well as the posthumanist dimensions of language culture and identity this book is key reading for scholars in applied linguistics intercultural communication and Asian studies

Virtually Lost Garry

Robson,2023-05-16 This book examines the connections between the psycho social difficulties and challenges faced by children and younger people in their online lives the structure character and motivations of the corporate system behind the screen and the possibility that the digital technostructure may come to form the backbone of a new post democratic system of technocratic governance Much of the originality of this book lies in its blending of subjects that are not often combined thereby offering a fresh perspective generation studies the philosophy of technology the history of the idea of technocracy the technologically enhanced merger of corporate governmental power in the U S system the society shaping goals and capabilities of the big tax exempt American foundations over the last hundred years the elite superclass gaming of formally constituted transnational and global institutions and the way the United Nations centred SDG ESG system is itself developing in the direction of a technocratic system of economic and population management The book will appeal to readers interested in relationships between our contemporary global power elite the structures it has created and processes it has set in motion and how these affect young people whose development is already being over determined by the activities of the big Silicon Valley entities and their associates

The Lives and Deaths of Shelter Animals Katja M Guenther,2020-08-18 By investigating the connection between the shelter and the community vastly expands notions of intersectionality democracy and inclusivity Leslie Irvine American Journal of Sociology Monster is an adult pit bull muscular and grey who is impounded in a large animal shelter in Los Angeles Like many other dogs at the shelter Monster is associated with marginalized humans and assumed to embody certain behaviors because of his breed And like approximately one million shelter animals each year Monster will be killed The Lives and Deaths of Shelter Animals takes us inside one of the country s highest intake animal shelters Katja M Guenther witnesses the dramatic variance in the narratives assigned different animals including Monster which dictate their chances for survival She argues that these inequalities are powerfully linked to human ideas about race class gender ability and species Guenther deftly explores internal hierarchies breed discrimination and importantly instances of resistance and agency Powerful and timely Katja M Guenther unlocks the shelter door and eloquently explains this complicated and contested multispecies space as she reflects on issues such as witnessing vulnerability advocacy grievability compassion and animal resistance Carol J Adams author of The Sexual Politics of Meat In this compassionate incisive ethnography Katja M Guenther illuminates the entangled injustices that shape human relationships with other animals Lori Gruen author of Entangled Empathy With the perfect balance of intimacy and analytical depth the author reminds us of how messy things can get when caring and killing become one or when the value of the animal companion s life is measured by the race gender and zip code of the owner B n dicte Boisseron author of Afro Dog

The Philosophical Foundations of Ecological Civilization Arran Gare,2016-08-05 The global ecological crisis is the greatest challenge humanity has ever had to confront and humanity is failing The triumph of the neo liberal agenda together with a debauched scientism has reduced nature and people to nothing but raw materials instruments and consumers to be efficiently managed in a global market dominated by corporate managers media moguls and technocrats The arts and the humanities have been devalued genuine science has been crippled and the quest for autonomy and democracy undermined The resultant trajectory towards global ecological destruction appears inexorable and neither governments nor environmental movements have significantly altered this or indeed seem able to The Philosophical Foundations of Ecological Civilization is a wide ranging and scholarly analysis of this failure This book reframes the dynamics of the debate beyond the discourses of economics politics and techno science Reviving natural philosophy to align science with the humanities it offers the categories required to reform our modes of existence and our institutions so that we augment rather than undermine the life of the ecosystems of which we are part From this philosophical foundation the author puts forth a manifesto for transforming our culture into one which could provide an effective global environmental movement and provide the foundations for a global ecological civilization

Recoded City Thomas Ermacora, Lucy Bullivant, 2016-07-01 Recoded City examines alternative urban design planning and architecture for the other 90% namely the practice of participatory placemaking a burgeoning practice that co author Thomas Ermacora terms recoding In combining bottom up and top down means of regenerating and rebalancing neighbourhoods affected by declining welfare or struck by disaster this growing movement brings greater resilience Recoded City sheds light on a new epoch in the relationship between cities and civil society by presenting an emerging range of collaborative solutions and distributed governance models The authors draw on their own fresh research of global pioneers forging localist design strategies public realm interventions and new stakeholder dynamics As the world becomes increasingly digital and virtual a myriad of online tools and technological options is becoming available These give unprecedented co creation opportunities to communities and professionals alike yielding the benefits of a more open DIY society Because of its close engagement with people place and local identity the field of participatory placemaking has huge untapped potential Responding to the challenges of the Anthropocene era Recoded City is for decision makers developers and practitioners working globally to make better and more liveable cities

Ethnography in the Open Science and Digital Age: New Debates, Dilemmas, and Issues Colin Jerolmack, Alexandra Murphy, Victoria Reyes, 2024-06-19 In the current moment ethnography is caught up in a number of debates that have led ethnographers to reflect on classic methodological and ethical dilemmas in new ways The replication crisis had led to a movement for open science e g registering hypotheses in advance sharing codes and data but it seems unclear that recommended best practices are appropriate to ethnography It s even up for debate whether ethnography is more of a social science or a genre The fact that many ethnographies are widely read invites questions and criticisms from beyond the ivory tower including our subjects about the ethics of representation e g who has license to write about whom and the extent to which journalistic standards of data verification and transparency e g fact checking naming sources should apply to qualitative research Some ethnographers are calling for more open critical discussions about the embodied dimensions of fieldwork including not only emotions but also issues like sexual intimacy and harassment There s also a growing expectation that ethnographers empower our subjects to represent and analyze themselves What s more as more of social life is lived online it becomes increasingly unclear where the boundaries of the field site should be drawn and whether ethnographic conventions can be applied wholesale to the study of digital spaces

Chromatographic Techniques in the Forensic Analysis of Designer Drugs Teresa Kowalska,Mieczyslaw Sajewicz,Joseph Sherma,2018-01-31 There is a dramatic rise of novel drug use due to the increased popularity of so called designer drugs These synthetic drugs can be illegal in some countries but legal in others and novel compounds unknown to drug chemistry emerge monthly This thoughtfully constructed edited reference presents the main chromatographic methodologies and strategies used to discover and analyze novel designer drugs contained in diverse biological materials The methods are based on molecular characteristics of the drugs belonging to each individual class of compounds so it will be clear how the current methods are adaptable to future new drugs that appear in the market

The Logic of the Spirit in Human Thought and Experience Keith J White,Dana R Wright,2015-02-26 In March 2012 a small consultation convened on the campus of Princeton Theological Seminary where James E Loder Jr had served for forty years as the Mary D Synnott Professor of the Philosophy of Christian Education Members from the Child Theology Movement had begun to read Loder s work and they wanted to go further So they invited former students of Loder s to meet with them for conversations about things that really mattered to them and to Loder human beings and especially children the church s witness to the gospel of Jesus Christ and discerning the work of Spiritus Creator in the postmodern world The conversations proved rich and rewarding and some would even say they took on a life of their own serious scholarship set to the music of the Spirit s communion creating artistry forming new relationships inspiring new ideas and sustaining all of it amid much laughter joy and hope These essays taken from the papers delivered at the consultation are offered as a means of extending that conversation inspired by Loder s interdisciplinary practical theological science and his discernment of the
