Nowcasting Annual National Accounts with Quarterly Indicators Mr. Marco Marini, 2016-03-18 Benchmarking methods can be used to extrapolate or nowcast low frequency benchmarks on the basis of available high frequency indicators Quarterly national accounts are a typical example where a number of monthly and quarterly indicators of economic activity are used to calculate preliminary annual estimates of GDP Using both simulated and real life national accounts data this paper aims at assessing the prediction accuracy of three benchmarking methods widely used in the national accounts compilation the proportional Denton method the proportional Cholette Dagum method with first order autoregressive error and the regression based Chow Lin method The results show that the Cholette Dagum method provides the most accurate extrapolations when the indicator and the annual benchmarks move along the same trend However the Denton and Chow Lin methods could prevail in real life cases when the quarterly indicator temporarily deviates from the target series

On the Extrapolation with the Denton Proportional Benchmarking Method Mr. Tommaso Di Fonzo, Mr. Marco Marini, 2012-06-01 Statistical offices have often recourse to benchmarking methods for compiling quarterly national accounts QNA Benchmarking methods employ quarterly indicator series i to distribute annual more reliable series of national accounts and ii to extrapolate the most recent quarters not yet covered by annual benchmarks The Proportional First Differences PFD benchmarking method proposed by Denton 1971 is a widely used solution for distribution but in extrapolation it may suffer when the movements in the indicator series do not match consistently the movements in the target annual benchmarks For this reason an enhanced formula for extrapolation was recommended by the IMF's Quarterly National Accounts Manual Concepts Data Sources and Compilation 2001 We discuss the rationale behind this technique and propose a matrix formulation of it In addition we present applications of the enhanced formula to artificial and real life benchmarking examples showing how the extrapolations for the most recent quarters can be improved
