Robinson, Margaret A. Sheehan, 1983-07-19 First the press became the media and now the media have become the Imperial Media or have they In this timely and comprehensive analysis Michael Robinson and Margaret Sheehan examine how the news media behaved or misbehaved in covering the 1980 presidential campaign Using the media's own traditional standards as a guide Robinson and Sheehan measure the level of objectivity fairness seriousness and criticism displayed by CBS News and United Press International between January and December of 1980 Drawing on statistical analyses of almost 6 000 news stories and dozens of interviews with writers and reporters the authors reach convincing and sometimes surprising conclusions They demonstrate for example that both CBS and UPI strictly avoided subjective assessments of the candidates and their positions on the issues Both gave the major parties remarkably equal access But the media seem to give more negative coverage to front runners treating serious challengers less harshly Perhaps the most surprising finding is that networks were not more superficial than print CBS attended to the issues at least as often as UPI Robinson and Sheehan find television coverage more subjective more volatile and substantially more negative than traditional print But CBS behaved neither imperially nor irresponsibly in Campaign 80 The networks did however emulate the more highly charged journalism of the eastern elite print press By blending the quantitative techniques of social science and the tools of Washington based journalism Robinson and Sheehan have produced a book that will be essential reading for students and practitioners of politics public opinion research journalism and communications Lively and readable it should also appeal to anyone interested in the role of the news media in contemporary politics Handbook of Antennas in Wireless Communications Lal Chand Godara, 2018-10-03 The move toward worldwide wireless communications continues at a remarkable pace and the antenna element of the technology is crucial to its success With contributions from more than 30 international experts the Handbook of Antennas in Wireless Communications brings together all of the latest research and results to provide engineering professionals and students with a one stop reference on the theory technologies and applications for indoor hand held mobile and satellite systems Beginning with an introduction to wireless communications systems it offers an in depth treatment of propagation prediction and fading channels It then explores antenna technology with discussion of antenna design methods and the various antennas in current use or development for base stations hand held devices satellite communications and shaping beams The discussions then move to smart antennas and phased array technology including details on array theory and beamforming techniques Space diversity direction of arrival estimation source tracking and blind source separation methods are addressed as are the implementation of smart antennas and the results of field trials of systems using smart antennas implemented Finally the hot media topic of the safety of mobile phones receives due attention including details of how the human body interacts with the electromagnetic fields of these devices Its logical development and extensive range of diagrams figures and photographs make this handbook easy to follow and provide a clear understanding of design techniques and the performance of finished products Its unique comprehensive coverage written by top experts in their fields promises to make the Handbook of Antennas in Wireless Communications the standard reference for the field
