Handbook of Power Systems II Steffen Rebennack, Panos M. Pardalos, Mario V. F. Pereira, Niko A. Iliadis, 2010-08-26

Energy is one of the world's most challenging problems and power systems are an important aspect of energy related issues. This handbook contains state of the art contributions on power systems modeling and optimization. The book is separated into two volumes with six sections which cover the most important areas of energy systems. The first volume covers the topics operations planning and expansion planning while the second volume focuses on transmission and distribution modeling forecasting in energy energy auctions and markets as well as risk management. The contributions are authored by recognized specialists in their fields and consist in either state of the art reviews or examinations of state of the art developments. The articles are not purely theoretical but instead also discuss specific applications in power systems. Computational

Complexity and Statistical Physics Allon Percus, Gabriel Istrate, Cristopher Moore, 2006-02-23 Computer science and physics have been closely linked since the birth of modern computing. In recent years an interdisciplinary area has blossomed at the junction of these fields connecting insights from statistical physics with basic computational challenges. Researchers have successfully applied techniques from the study of phase transitions to analyze NP complete problems such as satisfiability and graph coloring. This is leading to a new understanding of the structure of these problems and of how algorithms perform on them. Computational Complexity and Statistical Physics will serve as a standard reference and pedagogical aid to statistical physics methods in computer science with a particular focus on phase transitions in combinatorial problems. Addressed to a broad range of readers the book includes substantial background material along with current research by leading computer scientists mathematicians and physicists. It will prepare students and researchers from all of these fields to contribute to this exciting area. Racial Encounter Kevin Durrheim, John Dixon, 2013-05-13 The political and legislative changes which took place in South Africa during the 1990s with the dissolution of apartheid created a unique set of social conditions. As official policies of segregation were abolished people of both black and white racial groups began to experience new forms of social contact and intimacy. By examining these emerging processes of intergroup contact in South Africa and evaluating related evidence from the US Racial Encounter offers a social psychological account of desegregation. It begins with a critical analysis of the traditional theories and research models used to understand desegregation the contact hypothesis and race attitude theory. It then analyzes every day discourse about desegregation in South Africa showing how discourse shapes individuals conception and management of their changing relationships and acts as a site of ideological resistance to social change. The connection between place identity and re creation of racial boundaries emerge as a central theme of this analysis. This book will be of interest to social psychologists students of intergroup relations and all those interested in post apartheid South Africa. Public Transit Planning and Operation Avishai Ceder, 2016-03-09 Addresses the Challenges Facing Public Transport Policy Makers and Operators.
