Racing Raccoon

Story by Andrew Frinkle

Rick was a really fast Raccoon.
Rick was a racing raccoon.
He liked to run in races.

He ran a race on a road.
He ran a race around a round track.
He ran a race in the rain.
He ran a race wearing red.
He ran a race to win a rose.
He ran a race to win a ring.
Whatever the reason, he loved to race!

Alphabet Poem On Racing:

Rhythm and Race in Modernist Poetry and Science Michael Golston, 2007-12-21 In the half century between 1890 and 1950 a variety of fields and disciplines from musicology and literary studies to biology psychology genetics and eugenics expressed a profound interest in the subject of rhythm In this book Michael Golston recovers much of the work done in this area and situates it in the society politics and culture of the Modernist period He then filters selected Modernist poems through this archive to demonstrate that innovations in prosody form and subject matter are based on a largely forgotten ideology of rhythm and that beneath Modernist prosody is a science and an accompanying technology In his analysis Golston first examines psychological and physiological experiments that purportedly proved that races responded differently to rhythmic stimuli He then demonstrates how poets like Ezra Pound W B Yeats Mina Loy and William Carlos Williams either absorbed or echoed the information in these studies using it to hone the innovative edge of Modernist practice and fundamentally alter the way poetry was written Golston performs close readings of canonical texts such as Pound's Cantos Yeats's Lake Isle of Innisfree and William Carlos Williams's Paterson and examines the role the sciences of rhythm played in racist discourses and fascist political thinking in the years leading up to World War II Recovering obscure texts written in France Germany England and America Golston argues that Rhythmics was instrumental in generating an international modern art and should become a major consideration in our reading of reactionary avant garde poetry
