

The Holocaust
Document Based Question

Historical Context: Adolf Hitler rose to power as the "strong arm" of the German people", but he maintained and strengthened his rule through fear and hatred. Throughout the Holocaust, many atrocities to human rights occurred, most notably to people of Jewish descent. Millions of innocent men, women, and children suffered and lost their lives due to the propaganda filled hatred of Hitler.

Task: Using the information from the documents and your knowledge of global history, complete the chart below and provide evidence from the documents to support your answers.

- Describe three reasons for three human rights violations.
- Describe three different human rights violations during the Holocaust.
- Describe the reaction of the international community to the human rights violations.

Questions or Tasks	Analysis and Document Evidence
What human rights did the Nazis violate?
How were the Jewish people discriminated?
Describe the chronology of treatment against the Jews.

Document #1: Nazi Support of Jewish Discrimination

Hollywood or History? Sarah J. Kaka,2022-01-01 The rationale for the present text Hollywood or History An Inquiry Based Strategy for Using Film to Teach About Inequality and Inequity Throughout History stems from two main things First and foremost is the fact that the reviews of the first two volumes in the Hollywood or History series have been overwhelmingly positive especially as it pertains to the application of the strategy for practitioners Classroom utility and teacher practice have continued to be the primary objectives in developing the Hollywood or History strategy The second thing is that this most recent volume in the series takes it in a new direction rather than focusing on eras in history it focuses on the themes of inequity and inequality throughout history and how teachers can utilize the Hollywood or History strategy to tackle some of the more complicated content throughout history that many teachers tend to shy away from There is a firm belief that students connection to film along with teachers ability to use film in an effective manner will help alleviate some of the challenges of teaching challenging topics such as inequity and inequality in terms of gender race socioeconomic status and so much more The book provides 30 secondary lesson plans grades 6 12 that address nine different topics centered around inequity and inequality throughout history many of which connect students to the world we are living in today The intended audience for the book are teachers who teach social studies at the 6th 12th grade level both in the United States and other countries An additional audience will be college and university social studies history methods professors in the United States and worldwide

Teaching the Tough Issues Jacqueline Darvin, 2015-04-24 This book introduces a groundbreaking teaching method intended to help English social studies and humanities teachers address difficult or controversial topics in their secondary classrooms Because these issues are rarely addressed in teacher preparation programs few teachers feel confident facilitating conversations around culturally and politically sensitive issues in ways that honor their diverse students voices and lead to critical transformative thinking The author describes a four step method to help teachers structure discussions and written assignments while concurrently assisting them in addressing Common Core State Standards Designed to aid students in both developing their own viewpoints on contentious issues and in actively critiquing those of their teachers and peers these practices will enhance any humanities curriculum

Connecting Self-regulated Learning and Performance with Instruction Across High School Content Areas Maria K. DiBenedetto, 2018-07-23 This book shows how principles of self regulated learning are being implemented in secondary classrooms The 14 chapters are theoretically driven and supported by empirical research and address all common high school content areas The book comprises 29 lesson plans in English language arts natural and physical sciences social studies mathematics foreign language art music health and physical education Additionally the chapters address students with special needs technology and homework Each chapter begins with one or more lesson plans written by master teachers followed by narratives explaining how the lesson plans were implemented The chapters conclude with an analysis written by expert researchers of the self regulated learning elements in the lessons Each lesson and each analysis incorporate relevant educational standards for that area Different types of high schools in several states serve as venues This powerful new book edited by Maria K DiBenedetto provides a unique and invaluable resource for both secondary teachers and researchers committed to supporting adolescents in the development of academic self regulation Each chapter is jointly written by teachers who provide a wealth of materials including lesson plans and researchers who situate these lesson plans and academic self regulation goals within the larger work on self regulation The topics covered are far broader than any other book I have seen in terms of developing academic self regulation covering over a dozen content areas including literacy mathematics social studies the sciences and the arts Teachers and scholars alike will find this book a must read Karen Harris EdD Arizona State University A practical and magnificent blend of educational research and application This book goes beyond presenting the findings of research on self regulation by connecting detailed strategies that align with the standards to the research DiBenedetto et al clearly illustrate how to develop self regulated learners in the classroom A refreshing must read for all secondary educators and educational researchers seeking to be well grounded in education research and practical application techniques Heather Brookman PhD Fusion Academy Park Avenue Self regulated learning is a research based process by which teachers help students realize their own role in the learning process Connecting Self

Regulated Learning and Performance with Instruction Across High School Content Areas consists of model teachers lessons and analyses by prominent educational psychologists in the field of self regulated learning The book provides teachers with the tools needed to increase students awareness of learning and inspires all educators to use self regulated learning to promote engagement motivation and achievement in their students The book also provides administrators with the principles needed to infuse evidenced based self regulated learning into their curriculum and instruction I highly recommend the book Marty Richburg Northside High School Advanced Placement Examination in American History John W. Social Studies for the Twenty-First Century Jack Zevin,2015-01-09 Now in its 4th edition this popular text offers practical interesting exciting ways to teach social studies and a multitude of instructional and professional resources for teachers Theory curriculum methods and assessment are woven into a comprehensive model for setting objectives planning lessons units and courses choosing classroom strategies and constructing tests for some of the field s most popular and enduring programs The reflective and integrative framework emphasizes building imagination insight and critical thinking into everyday classrooms encourages problem solving attitudes and behavior and provokes analysis reflection and debate The text includes separate chapters on teaching each of the major areas of the social studies curriculum Throughout the text all aspects of curriculum and instruction are viewed from a tripartite perspective that divides social studies instruction into didactic factual reflective analytical and affective judgmental components These three components are seen as supporting one another building the groundwork for taking stands on issues past and present At the center is the author s belief that the heart and soul of social studies instruction perhaps all teaching lies in stimulating the production of ideas looking at knowledge from others viewpoints and formulating for oneself a set of goals values and beliefs that can be explained and justified in open discussion New in the Fourth Edition Clear links to the The National Council for the Social Studies College Career and Civic Life C3 Framework for Social Studies State Standards Attention to impact of high stakes testing Common Core State Standards and related ongoing developments Expanded and critical review of the use of internet web and PowerPoint technologies Coverage of how to incorporate the many social science humanities and STEM fields to enrich the social studies Updates and revisions throughout including new research reports reflecting current findings new examples more media and materials resources particularly digital resources new and updated pedagogical features Companion Website new for this edition New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking Kadriye Ercikan,Peter Seixas,2015-02-20 New technologies have radically transformed our relationship to information in general and to little bits of information in particular The assessment of history learning which for a century has valued those little bits as the centerpiece of its practice now faces not only an unprecedented glut but a disconnect with what is valued in history education More complex processes historical thinking historical consciousness or historical sense making demand more complex assessments At the same time advances in scholarship on assessment open up new possibilities For this volume Kadriye Ercikan and Peter Seixas have assembled an international array of experts who have collectively moved the fields of history education and assessment forward. Their various approaches negotiate the sometimes conflicting demands of theoretical sophistication, empirically demonstrated validity, and practical efficiency. Key issues include articulating the cognitive goals of history education, the relationship between content and procedural knowledge, the impact of students' language literacy on history assessments, and methods of validation in both large scale and classroom assessments. New Directions in Assessing Historical Thinking is a critical research oriented resource that will advance the conceptualization, design, and validation of the next generation of history assessments. Measuring History S. G. Grant, 2009-03-01 Measuring History complements the cases presented in Wise Social Studies Practices Yeager Davis 2005. Yeager and Davis highlight the rich and ambitious teaching that can occur in the broad context of state level testing. In this book, the chapter authors and I bring the particular state history tests more to the fore and examine how teachers are responding to them. At the heart of Measuring History are cases of classroom teachers in seven states: Florida, Kentucky, Michigan, New York, Texas, Mississippi, and Virginia, where new social studies standards and new and generally high stakes state level history tests are prominent. In these chapters, the authors describe and analyze the state's testing efforts and how those efforts are being interpreted in the context of classroom practice. The results both support and challenge prevailing views on the efficacy of testing as a vehicle for educational reform. Catherine Horn, University of Houston, and I lay the groundwork for the case studies through a set of introductory chapters that examine the current environment, the research literature, and the technical qualities of history tests.
