Function Family Application

Identifying Function Families in

Example: It's only Tuesday and we've already made four trips to the gym. The gym membership is supposed to cost $100, which is right. The club that charges $10 a month is $100 a month. The gym membership is $100 a month, which is the number of months we've been going.

1. Name the function family. What aspects of the membership situation indicate that it belongs to that family?
2. Make a table to represent the situation.
3. Use technology to graph the function.
 - What kind of line?
 - Does it pass through the origin?
 - Does it have a constant rate of change?
4. Name this situation. Does it represent a function? If so, explain the meaning within the context of the situation.
5. Identify the independent variable in this situation.
6. Identify the dependent variable in this situation.
7. Give the x and y coordinates for the first three points.
8. Does this situation represent a function? If so, explain the meaning within the context of the situation.
