eco cities and data driven smart cities and the evolving approach to their amalgamation under the umbrella term of smart sustainable cities. It addresses these advances by investigating how and to what extent the strategies of compact cities and eco cities and their merger have been enhanced and strengthened through new planning and development practices and are being supported and leveraged by the applied solutions pertaining to data driven smart cities. The ultimate goal is to advance sustainability and harness its synergistic effects on multiple scales. This entails developing and implementing more effective approaches to the balanced integration of the three dimensions of sustainability as well as to producing combined effects of the strategies and solutions of the prevailing approaches to urbanism that are greater than the sum of their separate effects in terms of the tripartite value of sustainability. Sustainable urban development is today seen as one of the keys towards unlocking the quest for a sustainable world. And the big data revolution is set to erupt in cities throughout the world heralding an era where instrumentation, datafication and computation are increasingly pervading the very fabric of cities and the spaces we live in thanks to the IoT. Big data and the IoT technologies are seen as powerful forces that have tremendous potential for advancing urban sustainability. Indeed they are instigating a massive change in the way sustainable cities can tackle the kind of special conundrums, wicked problems and significant challenges they inherently embody as complex systems. They offer a multitudinous array of innovative solutions and sophisticated approaches informed by groundbreaking research and data driven science. As such they are becoming essential to the functioning of sustainable cities. Besides yet knowing to what extent we are making progress towards sustainable cities is problematic, adding to the fragmented conflicting picture that arises of change on the ground in the face of the escalating rate and scale of urbanization and in the light of emerging ICT and its novel applications. In a nutshell, new circumstances require new responses. This timely and multifaceted book is intended for a wide readership. As such it will appeal to researchers, academics, urban scientists, urbanists, planners, designers, policy makers and futurists as well as all readers interested in sustainable cities and their ongoing and future data driven transformation.
