The Cobbler's Left Thumb James Dikin, 2022-05-04 Progress Not So Much In times past the shoemaker or cobbler was as important as a cooper barrel maker blacksmith lumberman or cattleman In fact maybe he was more important since all the other trades needed his services to perform theirs Everyone needed shoes but where would the lumberman be without proper boots belts and suspenders How about the chaps the range riders used to protect their legs from briars and thistles Halters bridles reins buggy whips and saddles were just some of the products a cobbler would produce And in time they would all need repair Gloves and many types of protective gear were made of leather Hides were abundantly available from buffalo bison deer elk and smaller animals such as rabbit raccoon fox coyote wolf and other small species Many cobblers were artists with the ability to transform raw material into something beautiful and comfortable with the expertise of a tailor or dressmaker Doctors would write prescriptions for special attention in balancing a patient's stand by modifying their shoes And someone had to be able to change the color of a leather product to comply with a customer's needs This book opens the door on the private lives of two cobblers My father and grandfather enjoyed the work they did and as world production of inexpensive and inferior shoes took over the market they found it too costly to compete Aurel Dikin Sr was the younger but taller of the two shoemakers The stories are my parents stories which I promised I would put together and share in my memory and love for them Both have passed away years ago and I'm honored to share their memories TOP Bulletin, 1979
