Another Place Modern Plays:

Playwright, Space and Place in Early Modern Performance Tim Fitzpatrick, 2011-01-01 Analyzing Elizabethan and Jacobean playtexts for their spatial implications this innovative study discloses the extent to which the resources and constraints of public playhouse buildings affected the construction of the fictional worlds of early modern plays The study argues that playwrights were writing with foresight inscribing the constraints and resources of the stages into their texts It goes further to posit that Shakespeare and his playwright contemporaries adhered to a set of generic conventions rather than specific local company practices about how space and place were to be related in performance the playwrights constituted thus an overarching virtual company producing playtexts that shared features across the acting companies and playhouses By clarifying a sixteenth to seventeenth century conception of theatrical place Tim Fitzpatrick adds a new layer of meaning to our understanding of the plays His approach adds a new dimension to these particular documents which though many of them are considered of great literary worth were not originally generated for any other reason than to be performed within a specific performance context The fact that the playwrights were aware of the features of this performance tradition makes their texts a potential mine of performance information and casts light back on the texts themselves if some of their meanings are spatial these will have been missed by purely literary tools of analysis

The Tain of Hamlet Laurie Johnson, 2014-10-17 Shakespeare's Hamlet is considered by many to be the cornerstone of the English literary canon a play that remains universally relevant Yet it seems likely that we have spent so long reading the play for its capacity to reflect ourselves that we have lost sight of the thing itself The goal of this book is to look beyond the Hamlet that has bedazzled critics for centuries to seek to apprehend the play in all of its historical distinctness This is not simply the search for what the play means

The Canon in Contemporary Theatre Lars Harald Maagerø, 2024-06-04 This book explores the relationship between contemporary theatre particularly contemporary theatre directors and the dramatic canon of plays Through focusing on productions of plays by three canonical playwrights Shakespeare Ibsen and Brecht by eight contemporary European directors Michael Buffong Joe Hill Gibbins and Emma Rice from the UK Christopher Røping from Germany Thorleifur Arnarsson from Iceland and Kjersti Hom Alexander Mørk Eidem and Sigrid Strøm Reibo from Norway the book investigates why and how the theatre continues to engage with canonical plays In particular the book questions the political and cultural implications of theatrical reproductions of the literary canon Drawing on Chantal Mouffe's theories of agonism and critical art the book investigates whether theatrical reproduction of the canon always reconstitutes the hegemonic values and ideologies of the canon or whether theatrical interventions in the canon can challenge such values and ideologies and thereby also challenge the dominant ideologies and hegemonies of contemporary culture and society This study will be of great interest to academics and students in drama and theatre particularly those who work with theatre in the twenty first century directors theatre and the political impact of theatre
