The New Global Rulers Tim Büthe, Walter Mattli, 2013-07-21 Global private regulations who wins who loses and why Over the past two decades governments have delegated extensive regulatory authority to international private sector organizations This internationalization and privatization of rule making has been motivated not only by the economic benefits of common rules for global markets but also by the realization that government regulators often lack the expertise and resources to deal with increasingly complex and urgent regulatory tasks The New Global Rulers examines who writes the rules in international private organizations as well as who wins who loses and why Tim Büthe and Walter Mattli examine three powerful global private regulators the International Accounting Standards Board which develops financial reporting rules used by corporations in more than a hundred countries and the International Organization for Standardization and the International Electrotechnical Commission which account for 85 percent of all international product standards Büthe and Mattli offer both a new framework for understanding global private regulation and detailed empirical analyses of such regulation based on multi country multi industry business surveys They find that global rule making by technical experts is highly political and that even though rule making has shifted to the international level domestic institutions remain crucial Influence in this form of global private governance is not a function of the economic power of states but of the ability of domestic standard setters to provide timely information and speak with a single voice B the and Mattli show how domestic institutions abilities differ particularly between the two main standardization players the United States and Europe

Trading Places--SMEs in the Global Economy Lester Lloyd-Reason, Leigh Sear, 2007-01-01 There are 18 contributions in the book all of whom are very highly regarded in the fields of entrepreneurship and international management the book is well researched and edited The book provides an excellent discussion on the importance of SMEs in the global economy Through a number of different case study examples and discussion of various elements of the internationalization process this book provides an outstanding resource for the study of SMEs that operate in the international market Vanessa Ratten Journal of International Entrepreneurship This book is most timely It arrives at a time when globalisation and new technologies present major opportunities and challenges to the role of the independent small and medium sized business in economies The book s strength in dealing with many of the emerging issues is underpinned by a truly international range of contributors with a strong mix of practical as well as academic experience From the preface by Allan Gibb Professor Emeritus Durham University UK Lester Lloyd Reason and Leigh Sear bring together leading researchers and thinkers in this critical guide to the ongoing worldwide research shaping the role played by SMEs within today s global economy The expert contributors contend that the past twenty years have seen an explosion in research into international SMEs resulting in a considerable body of academic literature and thinking This research they argue may merely serve to increase our lack of understanding in this area and often results in myths and misconceptions upon which SME policies and support programmes have been developed and introduced They go on to suggest that academic models are often poorly suited to the problems faced by SMEs within the international trading environment In many instances the contributors find SMEs at the vanguard of the challenge to accepted business practices it is these challenges that underpin the text Illustrating that today s SMEs are faced with the critical issue of how to create and maintain a sustainable competitive advantage in light of the increased complexity of international trade and global business linkages this Handbook will prove invaluable to both academics and practitioners involved in business and management and entrepreneurship
