

EASTERN EUROPE AND CENTRAL ASIA

The annual number of new HIV infections in eastern Europe and central Asia continues to rise. It reached 140 000 [120 000–160 000] in 2023, a 20% increase since 2010 (Figure 12.1). The region is off track to reach the targets to end AIDS by 2030. Four countries (Kazakhstan (1), Russian Federation (2), Ukraine (1), Uzbekistan (3)) report 92% of all new registered HIV cases¹ in the region according to published case reports from 15 of 16 countries.

In 2022, 94% of new HIV infections were among people from key populations and their sex partners, and 15% of new infections were among sex workers (4). HIV case reporting in the region suggests that an increasing proportion of new HIV infections are transmitted sexually. Available data suggest one explanation for this is transmission from people who inject drugs or formerly injected drugs to their partners in addition to a

HIV/Aids And Tuberculosis in Central Asia Joana Godinho, 2004 Averting AIDS Crises in Eastern Europe and Central Asia Olusoji Adeyi, 2003-01-01 The countries of Eastern Europe and the central Asian region are experiencing the greatest increases in rates of HIV AIDS and tuberculosis infections This publication sets out the World Bank's regional support strategy which seeks to provide a unifying framework for the Bank's work as part of the international support for country led responses to these public health problems It identifies short to medium term priorities and clarifies options for integrating effective interventions into the broader agenda of poverty reduction and economic development Central Asia Human Development Report Johannes F. Linn, Martha Blaxall, 2005 This report is a comprehensive analysis of the many challenges that confront Central Asia including high trade costs environmental devastation increased inequality rising migration the rapid spread of HIV AIDS and poor governance There has been recent progress towards regional cooperation but the barriers created by borders negatively affect peoples lives It is contended that increased cooperation among the Central Asian republics Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan would produce substantial political and economic gains including income increases of 50 percent to 100 percent over the next ten years The cost of non cooperation is continued deterioration in income distribution social services and general living conditions according to the Report and possibly a descent into the vicious cycle of economic crisis and corrupt governance that often leads to social unrest

Drugs and Public Health in Post-Soviet Central Asia Muyassar Turaeva, 2022-08-27 The book outlines post Soviet style of health management in Central Asia Regional studies on Central Asia to date have focused on states politics religion and inter ethnic relations but not on the health system within the region Soviet style policies have also covered only other aspects relevant for the region This book highlights the public health situation of the region with a focus on drug abuse HIV AIDS in the context of increased mobility and drug trafficking routes which became even more porous after the break up of the Soviet Union Based on a qualitative study the empirical data in the book was collected during long term fieldwork conducted in Uzbekistan and Turkmenistan in 2010 2011 as well as shorter stays in Uzbekistan between 2012 2016 The analysis of the empirical material largely draws on the works of Foucault particularly his concept of biopolitics when analyzing Soviet style health management that is still practiced in the region Applying the Foucauldian genealogical method this study has been structured to trace the genealogy of epidemics to understand the historical path of drug abuse in the region as well as the discursive genealogy of drug politics and drug abuse Applying the same genealogical method of Foucault the formative and discursive trajectory of the institution of Uchyot was traced to contextualize the health governance methods that have historical legacy of Soviet style governance and control of the total population Drugs and Public Health in Post Soviet Central Asia Soviet Style Health Management is a unique resource for academic specialists practitioners professionals and advanced undergraduate and graduate students in public health as well as a range of scholars and professionals in sociology political science anthropology and anyone with an interest in the Central Asia region drug addiction or HIV The book also could appeal to international donors in the field of HIV drug addiction who are working in the region Central Asia's Second Chance Martha Brill Olcott,2010-03-01 A leading authority on Central Asia offers a sweeping review of the region's path from independence to the post 9 11 world The first decade of Central Asian independence was disappointing for those who envisioned a straightforward transition from Soviet republics to independent states with market economies and democratic political systems Leaders excused political failures by pointing to security risks including the presence of terrorist training camps in Afghanistan The situation changed dramatically after 9 11 when the camps were largely destroyed and the United States introduced a military presence More importantly the international community engaged with these states to give them a second chance to address social and economic problems But neither the aid givers nor the recipients were willing to approach problems in new ways Now terrorists groups are once again making their presence felt and some states may be becoming global security risks This book explores how the region squandered its second chance and what might happen next HIV/AIDS and Tuberculosis in Central Asia Joana Godinho,2004

Although the countries in the Central Asia region are still at the earliest stage of an HIV AIDS epidemic they are experiencing a steep growth of new HIV cases related epidemics of injected drug use sexually transmitted infections STIs and tuberculosis They also have a large youth population and low levels of public awareness about the epidemics This report contains country profiles which identify key issues and recommend further action covering epidemiology strategic and regulatory frameworks surveillance preventive diagnostic and treatment activities non governmental and partner activities and resources available

HIV/Aids in the Western Balkans ,2005-01-01 In recent years Europe and Central Asia has experienced the world's fastest growing HIV AIDS epidemic Yet in the Western Balkan countries the HIV prevalence rate is under 0.1 percent which ranks among the lowest This may be due to a low level of infection among the population or partly due to inadequate surveillance systems All major contributing factors for the breakout of an HIV AIDS epidemic are present in the Western Balkans HIV AIDS disproportionately affects youth 80 percent of HIV infected people are 30 years old or younger Most of the Western Balkan countries have very young populations Report of the International Narcotics Control Board 2004

International Narcotics Control Board,2005-04-01 This annual report from the International Narcotics Control Board gives an extensive analysis of illicit drug abuse and the efforts to control it at the national and international level The 2004 report contains chapters on the following topics the interaction between supply and demand of illicit drugs and the need for integrated reduction strategies the operation of the international drug control system including the national drug control strategy adopted by Afghanistan and a review of the world and regional situation in terms of treaty adherence national policies and regional co operation cultivation production trafficking and abuse HIV Epidemics in the European Region Lucy
