Amazon Casino Royale Book:

Bezonomics Brian Dumaine, 2021-05-11 Jeff Bezos has become the era's biggest business story. At one point the richest man on the planet, Amazon's executive chairman has built one of the most efficient wealth creation machines in history with more than 2 percent of U.S. household income currently being spent on the hundreds of millions of products speedily shipped from the company's global warehouses. All this convenience, however, has a cost. Bezonomics promises massive job disruptions and the further infiltration of AI and Big Tech into our lives. In Bezonomics, award-winning Fortune magazine writer Brian Dumaine unveils the principles Bezos uses to gain increasing market power: customer obsession, extreme innovation, and long-term thinking, all driven by artificial intelligence, and shows how these tactics are being replicated by companies worldwide. If you want to know what the most unstoppable business model of the future will look like, this is a vital read. Film as

World Literature Robin Truth Goodman, 2025-10-16 Redefines the theoretical and thematic contents of world literature by considering it in connection with film. What gets lost when we understand film as essentially different from literature? What gets lost when we think of them essentially the same? Does the constructed difference between literature and film also create social and political exclusions, exclusions that may exacerbate class struggle or exclusions of certain ways of thinking the future? Film as World Literature seeks to undo disciplines and disciplinarity, the division between film and literature, indeed conceals the possibilities of world by bracketing out undisciplined parts. Contributors apply ideas of translatability and untranslatability not just as a linguistic exercise of transfers between language groups, cultures, and national origins but also as an approach to media and transfers between media. Is film a visual acknowledgement that literary language is by definition multilingual, that is, is film a place where political conflicts, as Bakhtin observed, can be rendered visible? Chapters discuss film's relation to world literature not only by considering literary adaptations across nations, regions, languages, ideologies, and contexts but also by exploring film's intersections with literary theory, narrative, history, genre, and experimentation. Film as World Literature calls for recognition that while the category of world demands a radical defense in the face of risks to democracy, the world that literature and film combined bring forth must interrogate the conditions for a future politics of interaction, engagement, belonging, and difference. Enchanting a Disenchanted World George Ritzer, 2005 Megamalls, Restaurant chains, Elaborate casinos, Deluxe cruise ships, Enormous theme parks. Everywhere we turn, there is a new place being constructed in which to spend money. The Second Edition of Enchanting a Disenchanted World: Revolutionizing the Means of Consumption examines the development of these settings and many others like them in the last half-century. Author George Ritzer takes a look at how a revolutionary change has occurred in the places in which we consume goods and services and how it has a profound effect not only on the nature of consumption but also on social life. In the process of taking capitalism to a new level, we have created new cathedrals of consumption, locales to which we make pilgrimages in order to practice our consumer religion. The book offers rich detail on consuming in places such as Las Vegas.
