Risk and Adaptation in a Cancer Cluster Town Laura Hart, 2023-06-16 Risk and Adaptation in a Cancer Cluster Town examines the role of emotion and its relationship to community experiences of social belonging and inequality Using a cancer cluster community in Northwest Ohio as a case study Laura Hart advances an approach to risk that grapples with the complexities of community belonging in the wake of suspected industrial pollution Her research points to a fear driven not only by economic anxiety but also by a fear of losing security within the community a sort of pride that is not only about status but connectedness Hart reveals the importance of this social form of risk the desire for belonging and the risk of not belonging ultimately arguing that this is consequential to how people make judgements and respond to issues Within this context affected families experience psychosocial and practical conflicts as they adapt to cancer as a way of life Hart ultimately presents possibilities for the democratization of risk management and underscores the need for transformative approaches to environmental justice
