Animation Behind the Iron Curtain Eleanor Cowen, 2020-09-22 Animation Behind the Iron Curtain is a journey of discovery into the world of Soviet era animation from Eastern Bloc countries From

Jerzy Kucia's brutally exquisite Reflections in Poland to the sci fi adventure of Ott in Space by Estonian puppet master Elbert Tuganov to the endearing Gopo's little man by Ion Popescu. Gopo in Romania this excursion into Soviet era animation brings to light magnificent art ruminations on the human condition and celebrations of innocence and joy. As art reveals the spirit of the times animation art of Eastern Europe during the Cold War funded by the Soviet states allowed artists to create works illuminating to their experiences, hopes and fears. The political ideology of the time ironically supported these artists while simultaneously suppressing more direct critiques of Soviet life. Politics shaped the world of these artists who then fashioned their realities into amazing works of animation. Their art is integral to the circumstances in which they lived which is why this book combines the unlikely combination of world politics and animated cartoons. The phenomenal animated films shared in this book offer a glimpse into the culture and hearts of Soviet citizens who grew up with characters as familiar and beloved to them as Mickey Mouse and Bugs Bunny are to Americans. This book lays out the basic political dynamics of the Cold War and how those political tensions affected the animation industry in both the US and in the Eastern Bloc. And for animation novices and enthusiasts alike Animation Behind the Iron Curtain also offers breakout sections to explain many of the techniques and aesthetic considerations that go into this fascinating art form. This book is a must read for anyone interested in the Cold War era and really cool animated films.

Automatic Generation of Computer Animation Ruqian Lu,Songmao Zhang,2003-08-06 We are both fans of watching animated stories Every evening before or after d ner we always sit in front of the television and watch the animation program which is originally produced and shown for children We find ourselves becoming younger while immersed in the interesting plot of the animation how the princess is first killed and then rescued how the little rat defeats the big cat etc But what we have found in those animation programs are not only interesting plots but also a big chance for the application of computer science and artificial intelligence techniques As is well known the cost of producing animated movies is very high even with the use of computer graphics techniques Turning a story in text form into an animated movie is a long and complicated procedure We came to the c lusion that many parts of this process could be automated by using artificial telligence techniques It is actually a challenge and test for machine intelligence So we decided to explore the possibility of a full life cycle automation of c puter animation generation By full life cycle we mean the generation process of computer animation from a children s story in natural language text form to the final animated movie It is of course a task of immense difficulty However we decided to try our best and to see how far we could go

Robby Gilbert,2025-08-13 Focusing on a specific period in New York s rich animation history this book examines the unique styles movements personalities and projects that emerged in the city from 1966 to 1999 During this era New York became a hub of significant stylistic cultural and market transformations playing a crucial role in nurturing the rise of independent animation as well as the development of digital production platforms and methods This shift ultimately led to the decline of
