Howard Moss was an important practitioner of formal verse in the mid-twentieth century. He also had an uncanny ability to envision—and thereby in his poems to transform—nature into the environment created by humanity, bringing it into the realm of civilization; he strove to formalize nature, in keeping with his view of what poetry should be. He once remarked, "What my poems are really about [...] is the experience of hovering between the forms of nature and the forms of art" (Leiter 29). Moss set an example for his generation among poets who believed in explicit order, and for later poets who have identified themselves with NEW FORMALISM. He was also the poetry editor at The New Yorker magazine from 1950 until shortly before his death, a position that allowed him to orchestrate much of mainstream American writing.

Moss was born and raised in New York City. In 1942, he won Poetry magazine's Janet Sewall David Award for his own poetry. His first book was published in 1946. He was inducted into the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters in 1968, and won the National Book Award for poetry for his Selected Poems in 1971. His New Selected Poems (1984) was awarded the Lenore Marshall / Nation Poetry Prize in 1986, a year when he received a fellowship from the Academy of American Poets.

All of Moss's work possesses a subtle finish. His early and middle poems are end-rhymed and metered, his later work freer—but all of it has a striking regularity of meter and tone. The prevalent themes in Moss's work involve fundamental issues such as change in life, human relationships, loss, and death. He writes ably of "the difficulty of love, the decay of the body, the passing of time, and the inevitability of death," all set against "the inexhaustible beauty of the natural world," as Dana Gioia has observed (102). He is, in fact, a great elegist who can portray attachment and loss with stunning acuity through graphic simplicity and bitter irony.

Moss's finely crafted verse is matched by his willingness to account for the peripatetic and otherwise insignificant details of living, making them at times monumental. In his work the truth peeks out through artifice.

Applied Bayesian and Classical Inference F. Mosteller, D. L. Wallace, 2012-12-06 The new version has two additions First at the suggestion of Stephen Stigler I we have replaced the Table of Contents by what he calls an Analytic Table of Contents Following the title of each section or subsection is a description of the content of the section This material helps the reader in several ways for example by giving a synopsis of the book by explaining where the various data tables are and what they deal with by telling what theory is described where We did several distinct full studies for the Federalist papers as well as many minor side studies Some or all may offer information both to the applied and the theoretical reader We therefore try to give in this Contents more than the few cryptic words in a section heading to speed readers in finding what they want Second we have prepared an extra chapter dealing with authorship work published from about 1969 to 1983 Although a chapter cannot comprehensively cover a field where many books now appear it can mention most of the book length works and the main thread of authorship studies published in English We found biblical authorship studies so extensive and complicated that we thought it worthwhile to indicate some papers that would bring out the controversies that are taking place We hope we have given the flavor of developments over the 15 years mentioned We have also corrected a few typographical errors

Letters to and from a Christian Mother and More Silas Dobbs McCaslin, 2011-10 Ethics morals and society in general have been spiraling downward for more than 50 years Life simply was different up through the 1940s and the decade that followed Christian thought today is discredited on the university campus and traditional Christian piety now is viewed by the majority of the public as old fashioned Postmodernism has become entrenched In Christian circles the question often is asked How does the unbeliever cope As believing Christians we know that the Word of God provides all of the answers Perhaps LETTERS TO AND FROM A CHRISTIAN MOTHER AND MORE will be of some assistance to both the believer and the unbeliever who as the parent of a young child or children or of young adult children must advise and counsel that child as they navigate through their religious social and academic decisions Dr Terry L Johnson stated that the letters are remarkable and show clearly what a devout and accomplished woman your mother was They are wise and devotionally rich and may deserve a wider readership From the Preface Dr Johnson continued Their literary quality was outstanding More importantly they were filled with sound shrewd bold Biblical counsel for her boys particularly in the years between the beginning of college and the birth of Si and Suzanne's first child Carey I wanted to read more and became convinced that others particularly parents could benefit from hearing the strong counsel of a Christian mother to her beloved sons From the Foreword Teaching Public Health Writing Jennifer Beard, 2022 Everyone working in or teaching public health has their origin story Ask your colleagues how they ended up where they are and you will rarely hear the same story twice Of course there are variations on some key themes The Biologist's Imagination William R.
