To Educate a Nation Carl F. Kaestle, Alyssa E. Lodewick, 2007 Eleven stimulating essays using case studies of major cities and their schools suggest what might be done to better foster equity and diversity in educating American public schoolchildren highlighting the complications inherent in today's education system and providing a framework for grappling with these problems

The Era Was Lost Glenn Dyer, 2024-10-29 An exciting yet relatively unknown episode in American labor history took place in New York City between 1965 and 1975 Rank and file members of numerous unions caught a strike fever as they challenged the entrenched power of some of the country's most powerful politicians employers and union leaders in a wave of contract rejections wildcat strikes and electoral campaigns Workers in unions across New York wanted more than better contracts they contested control of the work process racism on the job and workers place in America's socioeconomic hierarchy while implicitly and explicitly demanding greater democratic control of their representative organizations Some initial challenges were effective and succeeded in delivering better contracts and unseating undemocratic leaders However those early successes were short lived Glenn Dyer traces the way workers were met with employer recalcitrance and union attacks that proved too powerful to organize against In the face of this resistance workers retreated into a survivalist attitude of accommodation and resignation contributing to the decline of social democratic New York and working class power in the city Ultimately Dyer argues the failures of the rank and file organizing efforts in New York City which was the biggest center of organized labor in the country shows how stunted workers aspirations and numerous defeats not only uprooted the foundations of New York's uniquely social democratic polity but also ushered in a national era of increased working class subservience that has resonance today

Industry and Air Power Sebastian Ritchie, 1997 The author examines the relationship between industry and the state during the period immediately before the Second World War when increasing tension resulted in large government contracts

Mr. Flagler's St. Augustine Thomas Graham, 2022-04-12 Arguably no man did more to make over a city or a state than Henry Morrison Flagler Almost single handedly he transformed the east coast of Florida from a remote frontier into the winter playground of America's elite Mr Flagler's St Augustine tells the story of how one of the wealthiest men in America spared no expense in transforming the country's Oldest City into the Newport of the South He built railroads into remote areas where men feared to tread and erected palatial hotels on swampland He funded hospitals and churches and improved streets and parks The rich and famous flock

Here Are My People David A. Reichard, 2024-06 Beginning in the late 1960s and throughout the 1970s a new generation of LGBT students in California began to organize publicly on college and university campuses inspired by contemporaneous social movements and informed by California's rich history of LGBT community formation and political engagement Here Are My People documents how a trailblazing group of queer student activists in California made their mark on the history of the modern LGBTQ movement and paved the way for generations of organizers who followed Rooted in extensive archival research and original oral histories Here Are My People explores how this organizing unfolded comparing different regions types of campuses and diverse student populations Through campus based organizations and within women s studies programs and despite various forms of reactionary resistance student organizers promoted LGBT themed educational programming and changes to curriculum provided peer support like counseling and hotlines and sponsored events showcasing queer creative practices including poetry theater and film Collaborating across various campuses they formed regional and statewide alliances And importantly LGBT student organizers engaged California s vibrant gay liberation and lesbian feminist political communities forging new and important relationships in the movement which enhanced both on and off campus LGBT organizing

Highlander John M. Glen,2014-07-15 and racial justice during a critical era in southern and Appalachian history This volume is the first comprehensive examination of that extraordinary and often controversial institution Founded in 1932 by Myles Horton and Don West near Monteagle Tennessee this adult education center was both a vital resource for southern radicals and a catalyst for several major movements for social change During its thirty year history it served as a community folk school as a training center for southern labor and Farmers Union members and as a meeting place for black and white civil rights activists As a result of the civil rights involvement the state of Tennessee revoked the charter of the original institution in 1962 At the heart of Horton s philosophy and the Highlander program was a belief in the power of education to effect profound changes in society By working with the knowledge the poor of Appalachia and the South had gained from their experiences Horton and his staff expected to enable them to take control of their own lives and to solve their own problems John M Glen s authoritative study is more than the story of a singular school in Tennessee It is a biography of Myles Horton co founder and long time educational director of the school whose social theories shaped its character It is an analysis of the application of a particular idea of adult education to the problems of the South and of Appalachia And it affords valuable insights into the history of the southern labor and the civil rights movements and of the individuals and institutions involved in them over the past five decades

Building the Federal Schoolhouse Douglas S.
